VIOLATORS OF LAW.

Sixty-three Roads in Evidence.

Investigation of Standard Oil Methods Producing Far-Reaching Discoveries.

Special Counsel for Interstate Commerce Commission Secure Testimony.

Monnett Will Recommend That Action Be Taken at Once."

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, May 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] As a result of testimony heard by the Interstate Commerce Commission in the course of the investigation of the Standard Oil Company and its relations with railroads, sixty-three railroads, members of the Central Freight Association, may be haled befoer the Federal authorities for violations of sections of the Sherman Anti-Trust Law.

Although the members of the commission have not officially signified their intentions of asking the Federal authorities to take such drastic action, Attorneys Monnett and Marchand, special counsel for the commission, who conducted the examinations of witnesses here, have expressed themselves as satisfied that the evidence showed that the railroads, with the Central Freight Traffic Association, could have been disobeying the law by meeting and combining to make rates.

Before leaving Chicago, Monnett offered a special copy of the testimony of Joseph F. Tucker, manager of the association, sent him, in order to submit a detailed report to the commissioners.

WILL RECOMMEND ACTION.

"If the commissioners think that my conclusions are correct and supported by the evidence, the course would be to notify Dist.-Atty. Morrison of the infraction of the law, as shown to us, and have him proceed against the companies," said Attorney Monnett. "I cannot say that such action will be taken, but my recommendation certainly will be that it be taken at once."

The assertions of Attorney Monnett are based upon the testimony of Manager Tucker of the traffic association, regarding the fixing of the rates published by him. Tucker, under close examination by Attorney Marchand and Commissioner Prouty, refused to admit that the roads had agreed on one rate, but persisted that "individual action" was taken, and that he merely published the consensus of opinion.

He was first questioned regarding the procedure by the railroads to determine the rates he published. He said that all the officials of roads belonging to the association discussed conditions, and that rates were then decided.

SERIS, AND CEREALS.

American Wheat Rushed Into Mexico. Expedition Against the Murderous Tiburon Islanders.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

EL PASO (Tex.) May 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Due to the 50 per cent. reduction on American wheat imported into Mexico and the fact that the Mexican crop is below normal, many trainloads are being rushed across the border. On account of crop conditions, the Mexican government may extend the time the reduced duty is in effect, June 30 is the limit now placed.

Gov. Ysabel of Sonora, Mex., is organizing an expedition to go from Hermosillo, Mex., to the island of Tiburon, just off the Mexican coast, for the purpose of capturing or driving from the island the Seri Indians, who not long ago, exterminated the party of Tom Grindell, an American prospector.

NOMINATED OVER CARMACK.

NASHVILLE (Tenn.) May 13.—Practically complete returns from yesterday's Democratic Senatorial primary show that former Gov. Robert L. Taylor is nominated over Senator E. W. Carmack with a majority approximating 3000.

DESCENDENT OF MOGULS.

Gaekwar of Baroda Comes to the United States in Interest of Education for His People.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, May 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Maharajah Sir Sayaji Rao Gaekwar Sena Khas Khei Shamsher Bahadur of Baroda, Grand Commander of the Star of India, ruler of three million subjects, arrived here this morning on the steamship Celtic. On his arm, as he came down the gangplank, was his wife, the Maharanee. His suite consisted principally of his brother and secretary of state.

It was no fault of the Gaekwar that he did not array himself in the ornate manner which had been expected of him. The East Indian potentate, a descendant of the Grand Moguls, disembarked in a tweed suit, with a single scarf pin.

A serious minded Prince is the Gaekwar of Baroda. His chief concern the education of his people. He founded a college at Baroda, and plans to send its graduates here for supplementary instructions.

"I shall," said he, "visit most of the large colleges and universities during my stay in the United States. I shall spend two weeks in New York and then go to Boston, and from there to Philadelphia. After that the West and Yellowstone Park. On my return from the West, I intend to call on the President.

BLACK WHITE'S CASE KNIFE.

HIS MOTHER, MARY WILSON, WIELDED A RAZOR.

Race Riot in a Yonkers Alley Results in One Man Having Jugular Vein Severed and Another Being Disemboweled, While Others Are Cut in Various Parts.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

YONKERS (N. Y.) May 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] One man is dead, one is dying and a third is in a dangerous condition, as a result of a race riot last night. No negro was injured.

Mary Wilson and Edward White, mother and son, both negroes, are under arrest.

No one seems to know how the riot started. Several men were fighting in an alley. Others, Caucasians and negroes, joined them, until the riot was in full swing.

White's mother ran out of her home with a razor, and White became possessed of a very sharp case knife. With these weapons the two soon cleared the field.

Michael Fitzgerald was found with his jugular vein severed and his head and body badly cut.

Thomas Eagan had cuts in the head and was disemboweled.

John Dowd had bad cuts in head and body.

Fitzgerald died in St. Joseph's Hospital at 5 o'clock this morning. Slight hopes are entertained of Eagan's recovery. Dowd is in a dangerous condition.

Several other men received slight cuts, but were able to get away.

HARRIS NOT ELIGIBLE.

Republican Leaders of Kansas Declare the Senator Is Not a Citizen of the State.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

TOPEKA (Kan.) May 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Republican leaders claim to have discovered that former Senator W. A. Harris, the candidate on the Democratic ticket for Governor, is not a citizen of Kansas; that he cannot vote here, and that he is not eligible for Governorship.

It is claimed by them that Harris has not paid any taxes, and has not voted in this State for six years, and that by a provision of the Constitution, he has forfeited his former citizenship.

If the allegations of Republicans are sustained, a new candidate will have to be put in nomination, because there is said to be no way by which the candidate can regain his citizenship by election day.

Former Senator Harris is now living in Chicago, where he has been for several years. In an interview, recently, he declared that he had established legal residence in Chicago and had exercised the rights of a citizen in his own State.

Harris participated in a sensational episode, ten years ago, when, in conjunction with a Union soldier, he buried the "bloody shirt" before 2000 persons, to show that he recognized the war was over.

HARVARD'S NEW SCHOOLS.

BOSTON, May 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Harvard's new $2,000,000 group of medical-school buildings, erected with Morgan and Rockefeller money, are finished in the Back Bay district, and will be opened for the international medical convention next month.

FEARS OF REVOLUTION IN CHINESE EMPIRE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

MINNEAPOLIS, May 13.—Bishop T. H. Dahl of the United Norwegian Lutheran Church has sent cablegrams to the missionaries of the church in China, ordering them to leave the districts in which they are engaged, in case they consider their lives in danger.

Bishop Dahl has received three letters from missionaries of the United Church in China, who forecast the trouble in the nature of a new revolution.

According to these letters the disturbance is centered around Runing Fu of the Honan district. Rev. J. S. Stokke who writes one of the letters dated in April says the Chinese are rising against their own government in this district, and he asserts that the officers and the government officials themselves do not believe that their own soldiers are to be depended upon, as they are receiving pay from the revolutionists.

He says they are constantly afraid the soldiers will betray them, and open the gates to the enemy.

LONDON, May 14.—The Times' Peking correspondent says that many high Chinese officials express disapproval of the recent customs edict, which they attribute to the influence of Yuan Shikai.

Tillman Shines By Reflected "Glory."

"Pitchfork Ben" Quoting New Hampshire Celebrity About President.

William E. Chandler Declares He Was Sent for and Admits He Went.

South Carolina Democrat Insists on Confession from Him in Writing.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, May 13.—Senator Tillman, who yesterday made a statement in the Senate covering the details of his and Senator Bailey's negotiations, through ex-Senator Chandler, with the President regarding the rate bill, tonight made public a portion of the written statement to him by Chandler of the latter's views on this subject to the President.

The portion given out by Tillman is largely a repetition of the first part of his statement in the Senate yesterday. It covers, however, that portion where Tillman had quoted Chandler as saying that the President had stated that he had come to a complete disagreement with the Senatorial lawyers who were trying to defeat or injure the bill, naming Messrs. Knox, Spooner and Foraker, regarding which statement Senator Lodge subsequently, he said, was authorized to say from the White House that it was an unqualified falsehood.

On this subject, Chandler referring to the President, said in his written statement:

"He said that he had been much troubled by the possibility of an unlimited court review by some of the lawyers in the Senate—naming Senators Knox, Spooner and Foraker, as trying to injure or defeat the bill by ingenious arguments, but that he had come to a complete disagreement with them. He made this point emphatic by repetition."

TILLMAN'S STATEMENT.

The statement given out by Mr. Tillman follows:

"Senator Tillman said today, that on Saturday, May 5, he insisted on having from ex-Senator Chandler a written statement of the various conferences by the latter in connection with the plan of the President to control rate legislation by alliance with Democrats of the Senate, and Mr. Chandler gave him such a statement, made prior to Saturday and signed by Mr. Chandler.

"Mr. Tillman said he would give a portion of that statement relating to the interview of Mr. Chandler with the President on March 31, which had become a subject matter of dispute, but would retain the remainder for use in case any other parts of his statement in the Senate on Saturday should be denied. The following is the portion of Mr. Chandler's statement given out by Mr. Tillman:

CHANDLER'S TALE.

"'On Saturday, March 31, 1906, a friend of mine came into my office and told me of the White House conference of that date, in which an understanding as to a limited court review had been reached with Senator Long and others, and he told me that the President wished to get into communication with the Democrats, and would shortly ask me to come and see him. While he was talking, a messenger boy arrived with a letter from Mr. Loeb, as follows:

"'"THE WHITE HOUSE, Washington, March 31, 1906:

"'"My Dear Senator Chandler: The President requests me to say that he would be glad to have you come to the White House to see him at 6:30 o'clock tonight. Will you please let the bearer know whether you can come?

"'"Very truly yours,

[Signed] "'"WILLIAM F. LOEB, Jr.

"'"Hon. W. E. Chandler, 1421 I street."

"I told the messenger I would be there.

WHY CHANDLER.

"'At the time and place appointed, the President said to me that he wished through me to get into communication with Mr. Tillman, Mr. Bailey and other Democratic Senators. He stated his purpose slowly and carefully and in exact substance his statement was this: That he reached the conclusion that the best plan for railroad rate legislation was to expressly grant a review, but to distinctly limit it to two points: First, an inquiry whether the Interstate Commerce Commission had exceeded its authority, and second, an inquiry whether the constitutional rights of the carrier had been violated. He said that he had been much troubled by the advocacy of an unlimited court review by some lawyers of the Senate—naming Senators Knox, Spooner and Foraker as trying to injure or defeat the bill by ingenious constitutional arguments, but that he had come to a complete disagreement with them. He made this point emphatic by repetition; said that he would go thus far and no further, and that his decision would be unalterable. He declared that he wished to ascertain whether there could be united action in the Senate among the friends of the bill, so that it could be surely passed without injurious amendments, and he named various Republican Senators who, he thought, were true friends of the bill, but said that it would take nearly all the Democrats to carry the limitation and defeat all the obnoxious provisions.

WHAT CHANDLER THOUGHT.

"'After the President had made his statement, I replied that I had reason to believe that a number of Democrats in the Senate would sustain a limitation of the courts' powers, but was sure that Mr. Tillman would insist upon coupling with the limitations some restriction upon the power of the courts to issue injunctions against the orders of the commission. Before I had finished my statement on this point, the President interrupted me, saying that I need not explain further, because he was warmly in favor of some such restriction. That evening I saw Mr. Tillman and told him what had occurred.'"

TILLMAN TALKING FREELY.

Senator Tillman's statement in the Senate yesterday was the principal topic of discussion in official circles today. The Senator had a number of callers at his apartments, with whom he talked freely about the matter, among them Senator Bailey and ex-Senator Chandler. Chandler has been urged by some of his friends to make public a statement over his own signature regarding the denial by Senator Lodge of the accuracy of the President's remarks in reference to Senators Spooner, Knox and Foraker. He declined, however, to be further brought into the controversy at this time, saying he would let the matter for the present rest on the statement made public by Mr. Tillman.

It was with Chandler's consent that the portion of his written statement to Senator Tillman of his conferences with the President was made public.

Atty.-Gen. Moody, whose participation in the rate bill conferences was referred to by Tillman, was in New York today. He is expected back in Washington tomorrow.

Senator Lodge called at the White House this evening, and took dinner with the President. Subsequently Secretaries Root and Taft arrived at the White House, and joined the President and Senator Lodge.

Senator Lodge and Secretaries Taft and Root remained with the President until late at night. None of the parties present would discuss the visit, and all of them declined to answer any questions regarding the subject under discussion.

FARMERS UNITE IN MARKETING.

AMERICAN SOCIETY OF EQUITY CALLS A CONVENTION.

New Association Will Be Formed at Chicago to Control Supply of Products Until Markets Are Ready and to Eliminate the Middleman. But It's Not a "Trust."

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

INDIANAPOLIS, May 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The American Society of Equity, an organization which is composed of farmers in Indiana, Illinois, Ohio, Michigan and other States of the Northwest, has called a convention to meet in the Great Northern Hotel in Chicago, June 12 and 13, at which time another organization, to be known as the Marketing Association will be formed. It is to be composed of farmers, and its object is to market all kinds of perishable vegetables and fruits; also butter, eggs, poultry and all kinds of dairy products.

It is proposed to control the supply of all products till the markets are ready for it, and in this way bring to the producers all the benefits that are derived by others from storing vegetables, fruits, eggs and the like at a time of plenty and low prices for a time of scarcity and high prices.

It is distinctly stated that the new organization is not to be a trust, but it is proposed to eliminate the individual as a marketer of his products, and market them through the association, though they may reach the consumer ultimately through the same channels as now.

LIMIT NAVAL ARMAMENT.

Baron de Constant of France Approves the Policy of the United States and Britain.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

PARIS, May 13.—Senator Baron d'Estournelle de Constant has written to the Minister of Marine announcing that he intends to question the government on the reopening of the Senate, concerning the attitude of France toward the proposal to limit naval armaments. He says: "Limitation does not mean disarmament, and is a simple measure of good sense which President Roosevelt, Charles J. Bonaparte, Secretary of the United States Navy, James Chamberlain and Sir Edward Grey, the British Foreign Secretary, approve."

Continuing, Baron D'Estournel' s de Constant urged the United States, Great Britain and France to take the initiative, declaring that the movement is so generally approved that even Germany would not oppose before universal public opinion.

Enormous Plants at Gulport, Miss., Burn With Monetary Loss of About $400,000.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

GULFPORT (Miss.) May 13.—The enormous plants of the New Orleans Naval Stores Company and S. Shotter & Co., were totally destroyed by fire, today, six acres occupied by the resin yards, warehouses, commissary and storage rooms being entirely swept by the flames. The fire is supposed to have originated in loose hay in the commissary.

The loss is about $400,000, with $300,000 insurance.

MAKING AN END OF FANATICISM.

NATIVES OF SAMAR BENT ON EXTERMINATING REBELS.

Bands of Volunteers Scouring the Mountains and Killing Outlaws in the Interest of Absolute Peace. School Superintendent Hoover Goes to See Gov. Ide.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

MANILA, May 13.—Superintendent of Schools Hoover of Samar and several native officials of that island, have arrived here on their way to Baguio, province of Benguit, the summer capital, to visit Gov.-Gen. Ide. Hoover says that 95 per cent. of the natives of Samar are anxious for the extermination of the fanatics and the establishment of absolute peace. The native officials, he says, are organizing bands of volunteers, who are scouring the mountains, guarding the trails and capturing or killing outlaws. It is estimated that 300 Pulajanes still remain in the mountains.

Gov. Curry of Samar district has proposed to turn the Pulajanes over to the Federal authorities for the establishment of martial law, and the extermination of the fanatics, and Gen. Wood agrees to place two regiments, assisted by the naval gunboats, in the island and the adjacent waters in order to guard the outlaws and to prevent them escaping to neighboring islands.

Gov. Ide has reached no decision in the matter. The Pulajanes leader is 64 years of age, and has been in the mountains for forty years.

GIVE THE CITY A HALL.

Chicagoans Propose a New Four-Million-Dollar Municipal Building by a Bond Scheme.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, May 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] That Chicago may have a new $4,000,000 City Hall without increasing the bonded indebtedness, several citizens have a novel scheme which is said to have impressed Mayor Dunne favorably. The proposition is that a private corporation shall issue bonds to the amount of $4,000,000, these bonds to carry 4 per cent. interest and run forty years.

The corporation will take the money obtained from the sale of the bonds and build on the site of the present City Hall a new structure according to any plans the municipal authorities agree upon, the only understanding being that the cost shall not exceed the $4,000,000 specified.

For the use of the hall, the city is to pay $182,000 a year, of which $82,000 is to cover the interest and $100,000 is to be applied to a sinking fund for purchase of the hall by the city on the installment plan. By this method, the city would be able to pay for the hall in forty years.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW YORK, May 13.—More than 200 funerals were held in Greater New York, today, the 1500 Union funeral drivers who struck last week having returned to work.

An amicable adjustment of the differences between the drivers and the Funeral Coach Owners' Association was arrived at early today. The drivers won their fight, securing shorter hours, a $2 increase in weekly salary and recognition of their union.

BUDAPEST, May 13.—Right Rev. Sigmund Budich, former Bishop of Kaschau, one of the richest sees in the monarchy, who recently was forced to relinquish his sacred office because of large indebtedness, has been placed under legal guardianship because of the mental incapacity due to old age. His secretary and an art dealer, who, it is alleged, induced the bishop to part with large sums of money, are being prosecuted.

MYSTERY OF GAPON.

His Corpse Hangs From a Nail.

Body Discovered in Lonely Finnish Villa Whither It Had Been Conveyed.

St. Petersburg Expects May-Day Disturbances, and Politics Is Brewing.

Polish Deputies Begin Campaign for Autonomy. Jews Join Democrats.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

ST. PETERSBURG, May 13.—The mystery of the fate of Father Gapon apparently was cleared up today by the discovery of a corpse which has almost positively been identified as that of the former priest, hanging in the upper chamber of a lonely villa in the summer suburb of Oserki, Finland.

The villa was sold April 8, and a deposit was paid by an unknown man from St. Petersburg, who after visiting the house several times in company with a young New York man, disappeared April 12, taking the key with him. The proprietor of the villa, alarmed at the non-appearance of the tenant notified the police, who entered the house. Breaking down a door they were confronted by a body in a long coat, hanging from a nail, the feet touching the floor.

Decomposition of the face made positive identification difficult, but the features resembled those of Gapon and the clothing corresponded with that worn by the missing labor leader. As the usual symptoms of strangulation were absent, it is conjectured that he was killed elsewhere and his body brought to the villa the night of April 10. This would agree with the date of the execution of Gapon given in information of the secret police and with the death sentence of the former priest, as announced in recent dispatches from Berlin.

INCIPIENT RADICAL REVOLT.

Another of the incipient radical revolts with which it is apparent the Constitutional Democratic majority must contfnually contend, broke out today in the Lower House of Parliament, when labor members introduced amendments for immediate submission to Emperor Nicholas, requesting that amnesty be immediately proclaimed.

In view of the May Day demonstrations and the arrests that are expected tomorrow, the Constitutional Democratic leaders were scarcely able to stave off so precipitate a motion, which would undo all the results of their moderation, by sending their best orators into the fray, when Prof. Kovavlevsky, a free-lance member, proposed that, instead of telegraphing, the House send President Mouromtseff to Peterhof with the request for immediate amnesty. This threatened to sweep the House, but the Constitutional Democrats, by sharp politics, managed to sidetrack the matter until after the selection of a committee, which, according to Russian procedure, occupied several hours, and then were able to defeat it.

After this incident, the Lower House adjourned until Tuesday, May Day was not mentioned, but abandonment of the session tomorrow was dictated out of respect for the Socialist holiday, as well as with the desire to give the committee adequate time to draft the reply to the speech from the throne.

POLES CALL FOR AUTONOMY.

The Polish deputies today began their campaign for autonomy by a resolution for the inclusion of a paragraph on that subject in the reply to the speech from the throne pointing out that the fundamental law which established the especial position of Finland does not mention the relations of Poland to the empire, and the government's attitude in relation to the absorption of Poland as an accomplished fact is thereby manifested. The House turned over the resolution to a committee, without recommendation.

JEWS AND DEMOCRATS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

ODESSA, May 13.—A dispatch received here today from St. Petersburg states that at a conference between Jewish, Constitutional Democratic and Labor leaders in Parliament, it was agreed not to raise the Jewish question separately, but to comprise it in the general question of the abrogation of national restrictions and class privileges, for which a bill is being drafted. As the result of the agreement, the Jewish and Polish members decided not to constitute national groups, but to join the Democratic bloc.

BATTLESHIP LAUNCHED.

CLEAR VISTAS FOR BAY CITY.

New System for Removing Desolate Appearances.

Bunkers for Debris and a Rapid-Transit Flight.

Clamor for Insurance Money. Haste to Rebuild.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Systematic work in the removal of debris from the desolate vista of ruins will be begun tomorrow. The Loss Company will erect bunkers on Third street, near Market, to receive the wreckage in that vicinity and transfer it to railroad cars.

These bunkers will be duplicated at intervals throughout the burned district, and will be connected with every site by means of the proposed trolley system.

Heretofore, the work of removing debris has been desultory and slow, owners here and there employing teamsters and men with wheelbarrows to clear their lots. With the new system in operation, rapid progress will be made.

The railroads will not attempt to make any profit from their temporary lines. A nominal switching charge of $2.50 a car will be imposed.

CLAMOR FOR INSURANCE.

The clamor against the insurance companies is growing. Although a month soon will have passed since the city was destroyed, only a few insignificant claims have been adjusted and paid. Following the Chicago fire, most of the large companies telegraphed instructions to their local representatives to proceed with the settlement of claims, and within a week there was plenty of insurance money in circulation. The procrastination of the companies at the present time is keeping policy holders in a state of semi-panic, and adding to the fear that some of the companies, at least, are planning to make the most of the earthquake damage in the adjustment of fire losses.

Not only were hundreds of policies destroyed by the flames, but a number of the companies lost their local books as well, so losers by the fire must rely upon the duplicate accounts in the general offices.

WIRELESS FOR ENTERPRISE.

Wireless telegraphy was used by one anxious San Franciscan to hurry arrangements for the replacing of destroyed buildings. George Lent, who controls the Lent estate, had just arrived in Paris when he learned of the catastrophe. He at once started homeward, and while on an Atlantic liner planned the general details of structures to be erected on the Bohemian Club and Le Chat Noir sites. When in mid-ocean he communicated by "wireless" with a firm of Boston architects to meet him in New York and within a few hours after his landing they were at work on plans.

SONTAG'S FIVE MILLIONS.

Henry P. Sontag, formerly a property owner and broker here, but now located in New York, has arrived with $5,000,000 of New York capital to be invested in real estate. Sontag is looking around for any bargains that may be offered.

Rev. John Rodgers, pastor of St. Dominick's Catholic Church, says that his congregation will have the finest temporary house of worship in the city. It will be erected on Fifth street and will be completed within two months. STOVER.

BROKEN WATER MAINS.

WHY FIRE GAINED CONTROL.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 13.—One of the causes of the destruction of the greater portion of San Francisco was revealed today, when Mayor Schmitz and Engineer Schussler of the Spring Valley Water Company, accompanied by other officials, made a trip down the peninsula to inspect the huge mains of the water company which furnished the city's water supply from Crystal Springs and other lakes. Several big breaks were found in the mains, and thus was explained why the city was without sufficient water supply to fight the flames on the days immediately following the earthquake.

Engineer Shussler showed where the company had endeavored to obviate such accidents by using pliable trestles, but that even this precaution had not availed in the recent seismic disturbances.

RESERVOIRS SAFE.

The reservoirs of the company were found to be absolutely safe, and most of the connections re-established. The city is now receiving a supply of water amply sufficient for domestic needs and for fire protection in the unburned districts.

POLICEMAN ARRESTED.

Today was one of unusual quietude, and beyond the arrest of Policeman W. E. Cooney, who had in some unknown manner secured a supply of liquor, there was virtually nothing to disturb the Sabbath. Cooney became involved in a quarrel with a citizen and fired a shot at him. Cooney was deprived of his star and locked up. Chief Dinan declared he would make an example of him.

CHURCH SERVICES EXPANDING.

Church services were held on a broader scale today. Temporary structures were used by congregations that had lost their churches by fire, and where the buildings had not been harmed indoor worship was resumed.

The sightseers were not so numerous today, their curiosity apparently having been satisfied through the week.

RELIEF FOR OTHER CITIES.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SACRAMENTO, May 13.—Rollin P. Grant, cashier of the New York National Exchange Bank, today placed a fund of $20,000 in the hands of George W. Pettier, vice-president of the California Bankers' Association, the money to be used for the relief of earthquake sufferers outside of San Francisco. Pettier says the cash probably will go to persons in Santa Rosa, San José and other places, who, because of location, do not receive any aid from the general relief fund of San Francisco.

FIREMAN'S FUND POLICY.

WILL FORM NEW CONCERN.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 13.—In view of the fact that the Firemen's Fund Insurance Company lost its maps and records of San Francisco business in the recent conflagration, a new corporation is being formed for the purpose of protecting its policy holders and agents by taking over all the company's outstanding risks and continuing its business. W. J. Dutton of the Firemen's Fund Insurance Company said today:

"The new company was formed not on account of any weakness of the old, which is amply able to meet all its liabilities and have a surplus remaining, but only because the loss of these important records makes it necessary for the company to file sworn statements with the insurance commissioners, based on actual figures. This would leave its business open to constant raiding by competitors.

"The company's old stockholders are to have the option of subscribing up to their present holdings, thus retaining their ownership in the company's valuable plant by practically a voluntary assessment, and preserving to such stockholders as could not meet an assessment, if levied, their interest in the assets remaining to the old company after settling its liabilities.

"All the prominent San Francisco stockholders have already subscribed, and so many applications have been made for such stock as may remain as to indicate a very considerable oversubscription."

FLASHES FROM WIRES.

The fiftieth anniversary of the establishment of the Foreign Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church in British India was celebrated yesterday in Carnegie Hall, New York, under the auspices of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society of that church. Distinguished representatives of missionary societies of other churches participated.

The Porte yesterday replied to Germany's protest against the boarding and detention of the German sailing ship Odysseus by Turkish officials recently, while the vessel was discharging cargo at Chibukl. The reply expresses regret at the occurrence, and promises to punish the official responsible for it, but it proposes a reduction of the indemnity of $300,000, which Germany demanded. The German protest against the seizure was called an act of piracy.

According to special dispatches from Constantinople, the Porte's reply to the British note promised to restore the status quo ante on the Sinai Peninsula and the delimitation of the frontier by the Turkish and Egyptian officials now on the spot. Sir Nicholas O'Conner, the British Ambassador to Turkey, insisted on the delimitation by an Anglo-Turkish commission. This is the demand the Sultan is trying to evade, as it would acknowledge Great Britain's protectorate over Egypt and the severance of Egypt from the Ottoman Empire, while the Sultan wishes to maintain before the world that Egypt is still a portion of his empire.

"MUTUAL LIFE" ABROAD.

North British and Mercantile Insurance Company Proposes to Take Over Policy Holders.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

LONDON, May 13.—An important conversion has taken place in the case of the policy holders of the Mutual Life Insurance Company living in Great Britain. Last week, the North British and Mercantile Insurance Company proposed to take over the Mutual Life's holders because they are paying without medical examination and with liberal privileges and immediate participation in the profits. This was found to be practical with regard to policies representing $45,000,000 and subject to immediate full surrender value. With regard to unmatured policies, the North British and Mercantile Company declared it was proposed to negotiate for these on liberal terms.

D. C. Haldeman, former manager in London for the Mutual Life, submitted their proposals for the North British and Mercantile Company to a committee of holders presided over by Lord Stoswald, and the committee unanimously resolved to support them. Haldeman will join the North British and Mercantile Company as joint manager of its fire department.

WASHINGTON.

SENATE TAKES HOME STRETCH.

But May Not Speed Along With the Rate Bill.

Many of the "Grave and Reverend" Worn Out.

Appropriation Bills in the Distance—Statehood.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, May 13.—The Senate will begin the week with a resumption of the consideration of the Railroad Rate Bill, and no one can say how long that measure will continue to receive attention. Senator Tillman, who is in charge of the bill, expresses great anxiety for a vote, but the probabilities are that many Senators will desire to speak.

Further debate on the general features of the bill may also be expected, and it is not at all improbable that the question of Senator Tillman's negotiations with the President will be again revived.

SENATORS WORN OUT.

With the rate bill disposed of the Senate will probably be very quiet for a few days. Many of the Senators are worn out from the extra exertions which the bill has occasioned, and some of them will leave the city for a few days to rest. Mr. Tillman will go to South Carolina for a week, and, on account of his absence, the nomination of Mr. Barnes to be postmaster of the City of Washington probably will be delayed for some time.

LEGISLATION OF CHOICE.

The first legislation of choice which may be undertaken is the Legislative, Executive and Judicial Appropriation Bill. That measure is still before the Committee on Appropriations, but in in such shape that it can be reported out at any time.

Senator Dillingham, chairman of the Committee on Immigration, probably will make an effort to get action on the Immigration Bill, but the present prospect is that the measure will arouse little, if any, controversy. Senator Clark hopes to bring in the conference report on the Indian Appropriation Bill. It is not probable that the report will escape general discussion.

It is expected that a vote on the Statehood Bill will be demanded soon. The conferees themselves are inclined to believe that it will be postponed beyond the present week.

The Naval Appropriation Bill is still in the way, the five days given to it last week were only sufficient to complete the first half of the bill. Then will come a contest between three bills which, under special orders, have the right of way over appropriation bills. These are the Pure Food Bill, in charge of Representative Hepburn of Iowa; the Naturalization Bill, in charge of Representative Bonynge of Colorado, and the bill amending the immigration laws, made a special order at the instance of Representative Gardiner of Massachusetts. Each of these members will endeavor to get up the bill in his care. Chairman Hepburn appears to have the better chance of success.

SURPRISED BY SHIPOFF.

LONDON, May 14.—The Times' St. Petersburg correspondent says that at the meeting of the Council of the Empire, Sunday, Minister Dmitri Shipoff astonished the assembly by proposing to introduce in the address in reply to the speech from the throne, a humble request that the Emperor revoke the fundamental law, which, to his mind, was liable to be the source of a bitter conflict with the Lower House of Parliament. Several bureaucrats were inexpressibly shocked at M. Shipoff's audacity, because the sovereign had already made sufficient concessions.

Former Premier Witte rose, the correspondent continues, and delivered a forty-minute speech. He said he had been compelled to do things which he himself disapproved. His motives always had been good, but the circumstances were too strong for him. He saw no objection to the proposals advocated by Prof. Bageley of Kharkoff, who urged the Council of the Empire to work in union with the assembly, and in the address to pray that His Majesty, in limiting amnesty, be guided only by the goodness of his own heart. But with regard to M. Shipoff's proposal, Count Witte said it was irreconcilable with the character of a body like the Council of the Empire to make such a recommendation to the sovereign.

ACTRESS CHANGED COSTUMES.

Finding one of her lodgers arraying herself in the best silk raskirt she possessed, Mrs. L. Seidell of Thirty-fifth street hurriedly notified the police. Two detectives from the Stanton-avenue station hastened to the house and arrested Miss Dorris Gale, believed to be an actress, as she came tripping down the steps with a valise and a box filled with the finery of the landlady. The valise was empty when Miss Gale entered the house and rented a room two hours before. Beneath the bed in the room were found the garments Miss Gale had on when she entered, including a wig. All the garments she had on when arrested were Mrs. Seidell's. Beyond giving her name and her age as 22, Miss Gale refused to talk. The property taken is estimated as worth $350.

BROKE IN TO MURDER.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

MILWAUKEE (Wis.) May 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] William Selle, aged 50 years, early this morning broke into the home of Fred Luebke of Booth street, made his way to the room of Mrs. Selle, who was keeping house for Luebke, while suing for a divorce, and killed the woman. He shot at his eleven-year-old daughter, Louisa, then put a bullet in his own temple, killing himself instantly. Louisa escaped injury, but Mrs. Selle died instantly.

It is said that each acre will return a profit of $200.

ROUGH AND TUMBLE FIGHT OVER DOWIE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, May 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] John Alexander Dowie's meeting in Zion City, this afternoon, broke up in a riot, the first that Zion has ever experienced. Another sensational chapter was added to the city's recent strenuous career in history making.

Dowie, though said to be dying, insisted upon appearing at both morning and evening meetings. The incidents which have stirred Zion more than anything since the repudiation of Dowie, five weeks ago, began soon after the opening of the afternoon services. The followers of Dowie and Voliva clashed while Dowie preached, and a general rough-and-tumble fight ensued.

The riot call was turned in, and all available policemen in town united in driving excited crowds out of the Tabernacle into the rain. Dowie leaders say arrests of some of the leading disturbers will follow, while Volivaites declare the trouble was invited by Dowie himself.

No attempt has been made during the whole proceedings to do violence to the person of Dowie himself, who sat trembling and raging in his seat on the platform. After it was all over, he was borne from the Tabernacle to Shiloh House, exhausted and in a very weak condition. It is thought the excitement may result in hastening his death.

CALLED HIM "ROBBER."

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

CHICAGO, May 13.—Dowie while addressing the audience, numbering about six hundred, made the statement that the overseers of the Voliva faction were "thieves and robbers." At once a number of those about the house were on their feet shouting, "No, no, you are the robber; why don't you pay your debts?"

The disturbance became so violent that a Zion Guard was sent to restore order. The guard took hold of an old gray-headed man who was loudest in his demonstrations for Dowie to pay his obligations, and this was a signal for a free fight. A dozen men seized the guard and were about to drag him down the aisle, when Gladstone Dowie and Deacon Arrington mounted the platform and called upon the audience not to create a disturbance and to take their seats.

After quiet had been restored, Dowie again attempted to proceed with the meeting, but he was jeered and called "traitor" and "robber" until he finally decided to dismiss the audience.

Captain of Police Walker with four men hurried to the Tabernacle in a wagon. By the time the police arrived, most of the audience had left the building. In the midst of the trouble, Burleigh, the negro attendant of Dowie, rushed upon the platform and placed himself at Dowie's side, while those of the uniformed Zion Guards who have taken sides with Dowie formed a line of defense in front of the platform. No attempt at violence, however, was made against Dowie. The "First Apostle" was so weak that he had to be carried from his carriage into the Tabernacle by two attendants.

SECOND DISTURBANCE.

At a later meeting, called for Dowie adherents only, but which was invaded by a large number of those who were riotous at the former meeting, Dowie precipitated a second general disturbance. He caused to be read a letter from one of his supporters, stating that the writer's wife had passed safely through the crisis of a serious illness while Dowie prayed for her. This fact Dowie compared with the case of Mrs. Cantel, wife of an overseer, who died last Friday without medical attention while Voliva and his medical supporters were offering prayers for her recovery. Dowie declared that he feared that the woman died because she had associated herself with "the rebels." There was a storm of hisses and shouts of "shame."

"There is death in store for more of you, if this rebellion keeps on," continued Dowie. Again the people sprang from their chairs, shouting and gesticulating, until the tumult became so general that Dowie was obliged to bring the meeting to a close.

LIME IN THEIR EYES.

Three Denver Children Play "Volcano" and May Lose Their Sight Because of It.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

DENVER (Colo.) May 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Mildred Reed and Herbert Muther, aged 11, and Huber Croft, aged 12, will, in all probability, lose their eyesight as the result of their carelessness. "Playing volcano," the children called the game for which they will pay so dearly. A sand pile, a tin can, a little quicklime and some water were the apparently harmless things used to play the game.

All the children in the neighborhood had watched the "volcano" during the afternoon, but only Mildred, Huber Croft and Herbert Muther were present when the disaster occurred. They had resolved to have one more eruption, and one extra large charge of lime was placed in the can, and water was poured in. As the children stood near the sand pile, with a loud report the can exploded. A large volume of hot lime poured into their eyes, and before medical assistance could reach them, their eyes were in such condition that blindness seems certain.

GOLD FROM EUROPE.

NEW YORK, May 13.—The steamer La Touraine, which arrived today from Havre brought $6,100,000 in gold. The Umbria from Liverpool brought $3,000,000.

Work will generally be resumed today at practically all anthracite collieries.

THE FIESTA will be covered in the best possible shape by The Times, a special number being issued in honor of the occasion, which will contain several beautiful full-page illustrations and numerous smaller pictures of the best features, showing all the floats, which are said to be the handsomest ever constructed; especially those for the night parade.

There will be no better evidence of the life and prosperity of Los Angeles and Southern California than this great edition of The Times, and citizens who have the interest of the Southwest at heart should not fail to send these papers to their friends in the East and elsewhere. It is better than all the letters in the world to show what we are doing and can do. The sending of this great paper broadcast will do more than anything else to counteract the efforts of the malicious falsehoods spread throughout the East by unreliable publications, and it is necessary that such false impressions be corrected.

Papers for the full four days of the fiesta may be mailed to any address in the United States, Canada or Mexico, for 20c, postage prepaid, including the big Fiesta Number, or the Fiesta Number may be mailed separate to any address as above, for 10c per copy, postage prepaid.

In order to facilitate prompt delivery, orders should be sent in at once.

TURKS OUT OF TABAH.

Sultan Promptly Complies With British Demand Though Porte Displeases.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

CONSTANTINOPLE, May 14.—Tabah has been vacated by the Turkish troops by order of the Sultan.

The Porte's reply, Friday, to the British note agreed to the evacuation of Tabah and for the appointment of a committee for the delimination of the boundary, but it was couched in such terms as to make it not acceptable to Nicholas O'Connor, the British Ambassador, and he has insisted on complete satisfaction being given before the expiration of the limit set by British note.

It is fully expected that this will be accorded.

Old "White Hat" McCarty Is Still in Sight.

Speculators Packing Loads of Forbidden Loot.

Famines of Thread and Braid Bother Fair Sex.

BY HARRY C. CARR.
[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 12.—There is some kind of mystery behind this business of looting. Every few days the authorities make an appeal to the public through the papers to stop it, claiming to be powerless to stop it themselves.

Yet it is most painfully evident they do not try. The ruins have become literally thick with the stands of relic sellers; and no attempt is made to interfere with their traffic.

Relics are being openly packed in sacks and sent to the East, notably to Chicago.

Proprietors of relics stand, openly, dickering on the streets with boys to buy the stuff they have stolen from the ruins. Both the police and the soldiers see it going on.

There is no more firm or devoted admirers of the soldiers than the writer, yet it is the cold fact that the alleged efforts of the soldiers to stop looting in Chinatown were perfectly ridiculous, and still are. To inject personality into this, simply as a matter of testimony, I saw whole strings of looters going right by both the soldiers and police without a word.

I saw a man with a vase four feet high, and worth probably $1600, walk down the middle of a sidewalk past three or four commissioned officers and a bunch of soldiers. In his trail came a woman with china strung on ropes—fairly loaded with the stuff.

This was the day when a military warning was issued that any looter in Chinatown would be shot on sight.

Today, in the face of another appeal, I saw a whole string of looters rushing for the ferries. Two boys had a big dishpan filled with china, which they were carrying between them, and an armful each of other plunder.

Near them I saw a boy with a dish of some sort filled with burned revolvers, whose stocks had been nearly all charred off. Others came with pockets and arms filled with loot. One had a lot of watches.

The owners of the loot-stands could be heard bawling their wares for half a block.

Several times the soldiers have taken a sly satisfaction in pouncing down upon some dudish young man caught with loot. Recently a fashionable Oakland young man, who tells the story on himself, was caught loot-handed.

He was with his wife and several girls.

"Halt," said the sentry, and asked, "What you got there?"

"Why—er—loo—that is—relics," said the young man.

"Take 'em back," said the sentry.

The youth tried to get on his dignity, but the sentry glared and bore down upon him with his bayonet. So he started back, very much ashamed to put back his loot in the ruins where he found it.

"Hurry up; step out," said the soldier. So the dude stepped out in the most sprightly manner. One of his society friends—also a swell young man—caught sight of him, and let out a peal of laughter. The sentry turned on him and said, abruptly, "Come out here and help him." So the two much chagrined young bloods toted back the loot, and tastefully deposited it among the ashes. The second one had to be stuck with the prickly end of the bayonet in a humiliating portion of his anatomy before he would obey.

The most entertaining conversations in the world are to be heard these days going across in the San Francisco ferry boats. Some of the most learned men in the country in almost every profession have been called here. The dribbles of their talk are of absorbing interest.

One going over today was a great engineer, called into the rebuilding conference. He was talking with another man about the theory of strains and such.

"Do you know," he said, "that the worst strain which can come to a bridge is a dog crossing over—in proportion to the weight, of course."

The others in the party naturally looked astonished.

"It's true," the big man insisted. "In proportion to its weight, the dog on a trot makes the most racking strain known. It is more deadly to structures than marching men—or would be if there were dogs enough.

"If dogs were as large as elephants the bridge was never built that could stand the strain of their crossing. It's something I have never been able to account for exactly, except that it is synchronatic. Something in the peculiar cadence in which a dog trots seems to rack the structure."

There are famines in Oakland that the world never hears of; but they are absolutely harrowing.

One day this week thread gave out except for the coarsest possible varieties. On another day the dry-goods stores announced, tragically, that all the skirt binding was gone.

With "milkmaid sleeves" all the rage what should next disappear but elbow gloves! Many and many an Oakland girl dare not unbend the wrinkles that cluster artistically about her wrists. They have all been obliged to take the uppers of their last year's elbow gloves and splice them onto new hands. If you think this is a trivial thing—then it shows you are not a girl, and that you do not wear elbow gloves.

One of the familiar figures on the Oakland streets now is old White Hat McCarty; he still wears his tattered, furry white stovepipe hat, known all over the sporting world. "Owner's badge" still is pinned on his breast.

They say he is broke; but yesterday the old sport was stopping every one he met on the street, telling them his troubles and wanting to match coins, shake dice, play poker, and gamble in any way known to man.

He had a handful of $20 gold pieces.

"When I was flush," he said, "they wanted me to buy the Palace Hotel. Where would I have been now if I had? Instead, I have rented an old house in Oakland and made $100 selling the lease out."

He said that he would be all right if he knew where his wife's money was.

"In the old days," he said, "I give her thousand dollar pieces and five hundreds at a crack. It must be somewhere."

"Of course," he added, philosophically, "I wouldn't be telling you all this if I wasn't full."

"I want to know," said the irate matron, "how much money my husband drew out of this bank last week?"

"I can't give you that information, ma'am," answered the man in the cage.

"You're the paying teller, aren't you?"

"Yes, but I'm not the telling paying teller."—[San Francisco Call.

Predicts That End of the World Is Near at Hand—Sees Strange Visions, and Has All Sorts of Ways to Keep Up Interest—Bears Family Resemblance to "Elija II."

A representative of the London Leader writes: It is rather a shock to discover suddenly that we are within a biscuit-throw of the end of the world—particularly in face of the very nice weather we are having.

That is the discovery I made when I journeyed to Portslade to talk to "King Solomon" on various matters of purport. As readers of this paper know, King Solomon is the English John Dowie, and he runs the Army of the Lord (with which is incorporated the Ark of Jehovah) in a modest and rather mouldy temple yclept "Arregosobah," pronounced "Arry go sober" by the elect. Solomon's other name is Wood, and at the present moment he is engaged daily in seeing visions.

My coachman who drove me along the breezy coastline to Portslade dipped an eyelid when I mentioned Solomon. "I know the gent," said he. "I've been at one of his shows on the top of the hill. There was his Nibs, and a fat lady called Mrs. Swami, and a thinnish chap called 'Oros, and a crowd of worshipers squattin' all round. The fat lady mesmerized the worshipers—dozens o' them—and they 'opped about like peas on a grid. Then they sent the 'at round. What they were up to I don't know."

Here we drew up at Arregosobah—a large, double-fronted, sub-suburban establishment—and King Solomon himself welcomed me effusively at the door. For a king he was very shabby. The plight of ages had left many traces on his frockcoat. His boots were unpolished, and his cuffs were dull.

In voice, face, beard, eye and gesture he is very like John Alexander Dowie, with whom he started the faith-healing business in Australia in the early eighties. He reminded me, also, in some respects, of Pastor Howton, the professional Demoncatcher of Glossop, with whom I once spent a thrilling afternoon. There is also a strain of Prophet Baxter in him, and an echo of the Abode-of-Love gentle man, Smyth Pigott. It is strange how all these miracle-mongers resemble one another. I have had the honor of discoursing with all these able acrobats; but I think for what the vulgar call sheer "swank" King Solomon beats the lot.

"It's a good thing you came today," said his majesty, with a shuddersome roll of his wide blue eyes. "Because tomorrow might have been too late! And if it had been next week——!"

He slapped his knee, and the dust rose—emblematically. He took my hand and led me into the garden, where, on the tiled path, lay a pick and shovel, east and west. "Those implements," said he, in a whisper, "are not there for the usual horticultural or agricultural purposes of mankind. They are there as emblems of the grave—the grave which will shortly be opened. Note that ladder leaning up against the ark, which we shall shortly enter, with due humility. I hope and trust. That is not an ordinary ladder. It is Jacob's ladder—for the angels!"

I examined the ladder. It was old and rotten, safe only for the very lightest of angels. The king assured me that it would be all right on the Day.

And then he led me into a little room, as innocent of ventilation as a hard-boiled egg, and for two solid hours had visions, and prepared me for the Resurrection, showed me how and where it was going to happen, and told me how he, Solomon of Portslade, was going to stage manage the whole business. In my crowded hour of life I have seen a man hanged, I have assisted my friend Howton to cast out my own devil, I have crawled in the semi-darkness among the mangled remains of the victims of a terrible fire-damp explosion; but nothing was more creepy, or more pathetic, than the glib and cheerful prophecy of this seedy old gentleman as to the end of the world, which will happen shortly.

It will take place in three acts, and there will be a simultaneous gathering-in of the virtuous at

Portslade (or within a four-mile radius)
Egypt and Jerusalem.

"It's all come so sudden, that you won't know where you are. There'll be one preliminary sign—you'll get a sudden severe shaking; and then, if you're not ready, it will be all U. P. This End of the World will only be the end of it so far as its sin is concerned. The globe will roll on just the same and commerce will not be interrupted. I don't see why King Edward should not continue to rule the British race. But all the bad people will die inside of a period of 25 years."

"Why there be many?" I asked.

"Heaps," replied the King, sadly. "We shall be tremendously busy with the funerals of the damned, for years and years! It will be a good time for the undertakers. Then, when a thousand years have rolled away, there will be the Second Resurrection, and all the bad lots will be raised again. They will enjoy all the benefits of the saved but they will be condemned to go stark naked for ever and ever! That will be sufficient punishment for them—especially in this climate."

Having calmed down a bit, Solomon took me inside the Ark—a big, musty room, whose walls were full of weird drawing and wild poetry (from the King's own fluent pen.) Symbols were scattered about the floor—smashed chairs, chiefly, tied together with string. They were all full of meaning, and dust. Thirty great packing cases crowded the platform. "Full of unfulfilled prophecies," explained the King, kicking one or two of them flippantly.

SHOOTS AT HIS WIFE.

According to a report made to the detectives last night Charles Babbitt, a chimney sweep, living near the Odd Fellows' Cemetery in Boyle Heights, attempted the life of his wife late yesterday afternoon after having returned home in a drunken condition and announced his arrival by shooting a dog which ran out to meet him.

Babbitt disappeared from his house a few minutes after the shooting and officers were searching for him in all parts of the city last night.

After shooting the dog Babbitt is said to have turned towards his wife and discharged the revolver. The bullet missed the woman, however, and she was uninjured.

Babbitt is not unknown to the police, having been locked up several times for drunkenness and disturbing the peace.

FUN FOR OCCIDENTALS.

Class Reception and Banquet Prove to Be a Jollification for the Members.

The freshman class of Occidental College gave a reception in honor of the senior class Saturday evening in the college library. This function, which occurs regularly each year, marks the beginning of the many courtesies which are paid to the graduating class.

The main room of the library was tastefully decorated with oak branches and many-colored flowers, and from a booth made of greenery and red carnations light refreshments were served by fair freshmen.

A chorus composed of the male members of the freshman class, under the leadership of the class president, Harry Hodge, made a hit with a number of joshes on the upper classmen. Orchestral music was rendered, and a vocal solo was given by Miss Leona Lodwick.

Later in the evening the guests sat down to an informal banquet in the Y.W.C.A. room, which was decorated with the association colors and the tables were banked with flowers.

RED RAIDERS OF SONORA'S HILLS.

Guerrilla Operations of Bronco Yaquis in the Mining Districts.

Persistent Attacks Upon American Miners Have Directed the Mexican Government's Attention to the Inefficiency of Military Operations in State of Sonora. Dairyman's Daughter Pleads to Good Effect With Murderous Redskins, Saving Lives of Her Family.

BY ALLEN KELLY.

DURING the past few weeks a band of bronco Yaquis has been perniciously active in the vicinity of the Sultana mine, east of Carbo on the Sonora Railway and about half way between Magdalena and Hermosillo. The Sultana is a very rich mine, owned largely by the Giroux family of Los Angeles, and is being worked in spite of the persistent interference of hostile Indians in the transportation of freight between Carbo and the camp. During the first ten days of April, the Sultana freight teams were attacked several times on the road and five teamsters were killed.

On April 14, Bert Cunningham, son-in-law of Mr. Giroux, started out with his wife and baby from the mine to go to Rayon to have the child christened. The Cunninghams were accompanied by Louis Giroux, a young lad, Samuel Williams, an employé of the company, a Mexican nurse, a teamster, and a mozo. Williams and the mozo were mounted, and all the men were well armed. The party was attacked by Yaquis in a narrow ravine, and Williams was shot in the leg at the first fire. The mounted mozo fled, and the teamster jumped from the wagon to Williams's horse and followed, leaving the Americans to fight the Indians.

A PLUCKY FIGHT.

Williams, Cunningham and Giroux fought off the Yaquis, killing the chief of the band and wounding several others, but Williams was killed and Cunningham was wounded in the head. One horse and two of the four wagon mules were killed. Cunningham and Giroux saved the women and drove to Rayon after the fight, leaving the body of Williams in the road.

The Mexican deserters returned to the mine and reported the attack, and a relief party hastened to the scene, to find only the bodies of Williams and the Yaqui leader, and signs that several Indians had been wounded. The body of Williams was taken back to the mine, and sent from there to Carbo, where the railroad men took up a collection to pay for the decent burial refused by the mine managers. It seems incredible that the body of the young man who gave his life to save others should have been so neglected, but unless men, who say they were present when the railroad men took up the collection, are malicious liars, that is the fact.

Charles Myers, mechanical engineer at the mine, resigned immediately after the affair, and it was asserted by Americans in Hermosillo that he left because of his resentment of the manner in which the company officials treated the body of Williams.

A few days later an attack was made upon the boiler-house of a pumping plant connected with the mine, and two men were killed and one wounded. That was the circumstantial report received at Hermosillo, but it was not fully confirmed, and may have been only a Sonoran rumor or a garbled and mixed up tale growing out of the Williams' case and the killing of teamsters.

ROUNDING UP REDSKINS.

About a week after the killing of Williams, a round-up of Yaquis working in the vicinity of Carbo was made, and thirty Indians were arrested and taken to the penitentiary at Hermosillo, where a large number of Indian men, women and children are held awaiting deportation to Yucatan. The Sonoran authorities said they believed they had caught some bad Yaquis in the band of thirty, and it was intimated that the "third degree" would be worked on a few of them to persuade them to confess. If the "third degree" is what it is said to be, it is sure to produce any confession desired by those who work it. It is fully as effective as the "water cure" so popular in the Philippines, a few years ago.

The policy of rounding up "tame" Yaqui laborers employed near the scene of an outrage has been adopted because it is believed that the Indians take turns in going on the war path, and that a Yaqui may be tame one day and bronco the next, according to opportunity. The Yaqui laborers also are more than suspected of supplying their wild brethren with money for the purchase of arms and cartridges. Yaqui servants, who have been trusted for years by their employers, have been caught going out at night to join bronco bands and take part in murderous adventures.

GRUDGE AGAINST GRINGOS.

The animosity of the Yaquis to the Sultana mine outfit manifested in persistent attacks upon its wagon trains and employés, is accounted for by Americans in Hermosillo by the story that the mine managers decoyed a large number of Indians to the camp with offers of employment, and handed them over to the troops for deportation. The Yaquis, it is said, have sworn vengeance on all Gringos connected with the Sultana outfit.

But all this may be nothing more than the product of a fertile imagination, and the Sultana mine may be the center of disturbance at this time merely because a band of bad Yaquis finds it convenient to infest that neighborhood. Up to a year ago the scene of active hostilities was the vicinity of Minas Prietas and La Colorado, southeast of Hermosillo, although the Indians had no particular grievance against the mining companies operating in that district.

RAIDS AT MINAS PRIETAS.

A year ago last winter, the Cox-McKenzie party was attacked about thirty miles from Minas Prietas, and four Americans and a Mexican were killed. The next morning an American dairyman and his family were held up three miles from the town and within a mile of the camp of a body of troops. A young Yaqui snapped his rifle at the American, but the piece missed fire, and older Indians interfered and prevented the young buck from carrying out his purpose. The dairyman's twelve-year-old daughter spoke Spanish, and she pleaded with the Yaqui leader for the lives of the party, and persuaded him to spare them. The Indians took all the clothing and other property of the family, and let them go without bodily harm.

At about the same time an American named Watson and a Mexican driver, were held up by a party of Yaquis wearing red bands on their hats. The red band is the only uniform usually worn by the Nacionales or State militia. The Indians took Watson's rifle and the outer clothing of both men, and the leader then said: "You fellows had better find a safe refuge as quick as you can. There is another band of Yaquis coming along, and they are bad. They will kill you. Get under cover pronto." Watson heeded the warning and escaped.

A party of Chinese teamsters had a similar experience near San José. Yaquis held them up and robbed them of their clothing and arms and turned them loose with a warning to get into camp as soon as possible. A report of the hold-up was telephoned to La Colorado and the next day the local authorities sent a man out to investigate. The man reported that he couldn't see any Yaqui tracks on the road, and the able authorities pronounced the report a lie. The arrival in camp of the Chinese destitute of clothing was not regarded by the wise authorities as evidence of the truth of their story. The man found no Yaqui tracks, and therefore the Chinese must have robbed and stripped themselves.

STUPID SOLDIERY.

During the period of disturbance around La Colorado, a prominent young Sonoran, Antonio Astaceran, was killed on the road by Yaquis, and thirteen of his Mexican and Indian employés disappeared. Troops went out to recover the young man's body, and when they arrived at the scene of the murder, they heard a yelling and shrieking on a hill a few hundred yards from the road. A citizen accompanying the soldiers said to the officer in command that there must be some devilitry going on in the brush, and urged him to take his men up the hill to investigate. The officer refused, saying that his business was only to bring in the body.

Three days later the hill was searched and the bodies of seven of the missing men were found. Their hands had been bound to their knees and their heads had been crushed with rocks. That bloody work was done within hearing and rifle shot of a body of Mexican troops. The other six men joined the Yaquis, and later one of them escaped and told the story of the killing and the wanderings of the band.

About twenty persons were killed in the vicinity of La Colorado and many others were attacked but managed to drive off the Yaquis. No American, who put up a fight, was hurt. Finally Gen. Torres went to La Colorado and rounded up all the Yaquis in camp. He shot five, after extorting confessions by stringing up a few suspected bucks, hanged five more and deported all the rest to Yucatan, including all the Yaqui firemen and laborers employed in the mines. The broncos then left that part of the country and went north.

It was at about that time that President Torres was killed near Minas Prietas, and a number of citizens attempted to send a statement of facts and a petition for better protection to President Diaz. The petition was seized, and the man who wrote it was expelled from the country. From Los Angeles he wrote to President Diaz, who replied courteously but assured him he must be mistaken, because he, President Diaz, had "official information that there were no Yaquis in that part of Sonora."

As the Sonoran authorities are no longer denying that the Yaquis are a serious menace to central Sonora, it may be inferred that President Diaz has recently been supplied with information of a convincing character from other than official sources and has intimated that it is about time to put an end to the seven years' Yaqui war.

THE DANGER ZONE.

The Yaqui outbreak began seven years ago in the valley southeast of Guaymas, and hostilities were confined for a year or two to that district. The cause of trouble was the seizure of Yaqui lands, and at first only the Yaquis directly affected by the operations of the land-grabbers were on the war path. Now the Indians have been driven out of the valley, and the original scene of hostilities is peaceful, while the once tranquil mining districts are overrun by marauding bands.

All depredations up to date have been east of the line of the Sonora Railway. West of the railroad the roads are safe to travelers and mining and farming operations are carried on without interruption or fear of molestation. There are several reasons for the freedom of the west country from Yaqui raids. The Yaquis never claimed that country and have no grievance against the inhabitants. It is the country of the Papágoes, and the Yaquis are not anxious to get into trouble with that tribe. The west country, moreover, affords the easiest route of travel to and from the Arizona line, and the Yaquis desire to keep the road open and safe to themselves. They do not want armed parties out scouting for them along that line of communication, and they are careful to avoid stirring up trouble in a strange country, far from their mountain strongholds. Yaqui bands traveling back and forth west of the railroad try to pass through without being seen.

RESEMBLANCE WITH A DIFFERENCE.

There is no danger to travelers in Sonora outside of the eastern Hermosillo, Ures, Sahuaripa and Guaymas districts, but in that region the Yaquis roam unchecked and unafraid of the barrack-bound, slow-footed soldiery, and the traveler, with or without escort, runs risk of falling into an ambush at any moment.

The situation has been likened to that which existed in Arizona during the days of Apache outbreaks, but there is an important difference, overlooked by those who make the comparison. The Apaches were chased down by the soldiers, who were individually efficient and intelligent, and who did not run away and desert women placed under their protection. When American troops went after Apaches, they stuck to the trail to the limit of endurance of horse and man. To compare the wretched Mexican convict-soldier with the American trooper is absurd.

NO LOST POSITIONS.

Unfortunately, however, there has been circulated from some source the reports that certain employers look askance at this sudden stepping out of their individual positions by the men and taking up the public service as soldiers; and rumor has it that some of the men will find it difficult to hold their positions hereafter for this reason. It is declared that public sentiment will condemn any attempt of employers to make capital of this.

Enlisted men will receive pay at the rate of $2 per day for their twenty-three days of service. Officers will receive pay at the same rate as regular army officers of like rank.

The pay rolls for the time served during April have been made out, and as soon as they are indorsed by the commanders of each company they will be returned to Los Angeles, and the men will be paid here. The payment for services during the month of May will take place in June.

Funds for this purpose have been provided by four banks of Oakland and four banks of Sacramento, through an arrangement made by Gov. Pardee with these institutions.

GENERAL PROUD OF WORK.

Gen. Wankowski, in speaking yesterday afternoon of the service of the Seventh Regiment in the San Francisco disaster, said:

"I am proud of the work performed by our men, and the good impression they have created at every point where they have served.

"They have creditably acquitted themselves as soldiers and as gentlemen. It is very gratifying to have similar statements come to officers of the regiment from prominent citizens of Oakland and other places. The men have been unfailing in their devotion to duty. There was not a single serious breach of duty among them; every man seemed to feel his [illegible] and it all told for the honor of the Seventh Regiment.

"When the saloons were opened in Oakland, I at first wrote an order prohibiting any man wearing the uniform appearing in a drinking place. After some thought I tore this up, and simply sent a letter to the captain of each company stating that I should make no prohibitive order, but that I trusted to the honor of the men to see that there was no incident to bring the least reproach upon the good name of the regiment. I am glad to say this confidence was not misplaced in any instance.

"I believe this experience, which really is the first active service which the Seventh Regiment has seen, will be of incalculable value to the command. If anything was needed to stir up and weld together regimental spirit, this service met the need. I believe it will be the means of causing many desirable young men to seek admission to the National Guard ranks."

PROUD OF HIS MEN.

COL. FINLEY PRAISES REGIMENT.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SANTA ANA, May 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Col. S. H. Finley, who commands the Seventh Regiment, accompanied by several of his official family, returned home today from San Francisco. That the colonel is proud of the record made by his men, and proud of them, is shown by the enthusiastic manner in which he tells of what they accomplished. He places particular stress upon the fact that regular army officers warmly praised the work of the command.

He stated that when the men were not engaged in guard and outpost duty they were kept busy with drills and routine camp work.

Details were kept at various issuing stations and relief camps. As a rule these details were drawn from different companies, according to their strength. Camp guards were furnished by one company at a time, and term of duty was twenty-four hours. The total strength of the regiment in the field was 674 enlisted men and officers. All but forty-five men responded to the call, and these latter had satisfactory excuses. Only thirty men were granted leave of absence during the tour.

There was absolutely no sickness in the camp, and officers and men vied with each other in the performance of their duties. Regular army officers spoke in highest praise of the sanitary condition of the camp, saying it excelled similar camps of the regular troops.

The regiment reached Oakland Sunday, April 22, and the actual work commenced Monday morning.

One of the most important duties the regiment was called upon to perform was the transportation of 175 prisoners from Alcatraz Island to various jails in neighboring cities and towns. This was done without trouble or loss of a single prisoner.

The regiment furnished the sentries necessary for guarding the Oakland banks at night. Their orders were stringent regarding admitting any one into the banks, and was faithfully carried out in every case. Army officers admitted that the sentry duty performed by the Seventh was equal to that of the regulars.

The men will be paid off this week for the ten days in April. They will not receive their pay for May until last of the month. This money is borrowed from Oakland banks.

There will be no encampment this year.

ISSUES CALL TO SENATORS.

CHAIRMAN BELSHAW PLANS FOR SPECIAL SESSION.

Asks Members of Finance Committee of Upper House to Meet at Oakland Next Monday to Adopt Method of Procedure to Be Followed When Legislature Convenes.

Senator Charles M. Belshaw, as chairman of the Finance Committee of the State Senate, has called the members of that committee to attend a meeting at the City Hall in Oakland, next Monday afternoon, to adopt a method of procedure to be followed at the coming special session of the Legislature, when it shall be called by Gov. Pardee. The call, addressed to members of the committee, is dated at the Senator's home at Antioch, May 10, and is given publicity in order that persons who desire to present matters which would come under the jurisdiction of the committee may have an opportunity to do so. It is as follows:

"In view of the great loss which has come to California through the dreadful disaster which recently visited San Francisco and other cities, it is possible that an extra session of the Legislature may be convened by the Governor.

"Through the press I learn that the Governor is unwilling to call an extra session until the matters to be acted upon at the extra session shall have been thoroughly discussed, and, as near as may be, determined upon. This position of the Governor I consider wise and prudent. If an extra session is to be called, in my judgment, matters should be in such shape that the Legislature may proceed with, and finish, its business promptly.

"Having this in mind, it strikes me that much good could be accomplished if the Finance Committee of the Senate could meet at some convenient place for the purpose of discussing in a semi-official way, those matters which in all likelihood would come before the committee during the extra session.

"The fire in San Francisco has destroyed about one-quarter of the taxable property of the State, and, in my opinion, some legislation will be required to provide funds for the coming fiscal year.

"The water front of San Francisco has been considerably damaged, and it ought to be put in such condition that commerce shall not have to seek accommodations elsewhere. Many of the public buildings and schools are in need of more or less attention, and it seems to me that the Finance Committee could do much to expedite the business of an extra session by doing some work before the session is convened. The committee could confer with the Governor, with the heads of different institutions, with other committees of the Senate, and with citizens who might wish to bring to the attention of the committee any matter which would come under its jurisdiction.

"It is not my idea that the Finance Committee shall usurp the functions of any other legislative committee or State official, but that it shall work in harmony with all for the common good. Therefore (assuming that the committees of the last session of the Legislature will remain unchanged at the extra session,) as chairman of the Finance Committee of the Senate of the State of California, I request you, as a member of the committee, to be present at a meeting of the committee to be held in the City Hall, Oakland, Cal., at 2 p.m. Monday, May 21, 1906, at which meeting a method of procedure will be adopted and future meetings provided for.

"It is understood that each member of the committee shall attend these meetings at his own expense.

"'God helps those who help themselves.' Let us get to work."

GEN. ROBERT WANKOWSKI,
commanding First Brigade, National Guard of California.

CHURCH IMPROVEMENTS.

Substantial Fund Raised in Few Minutes at First Christian Church for Building Operations.

The past month at the First Christian Church has been a time of great prosperity. Special stress has been laid upon the work of the Sunday-school and its membership has greatly increased. Nearly one hundred persons have been added to the membership of that church at the regular services without any revival, within the past four weeks. Of this number more than sixty have been conversions.

The growth of the church has necessitated larger accommodations in their already-commodious church buildings.

On yesterday morning the pastor, Rev. A. C. Smither, made an appeal for funds for enlarging the Sunday-school facilities of the congregation and for placing a gallery in the large auditorium. In a few minutes more than $5000 was subscribed for this purpose.

As soon as the plans are completed work will be begun on the building, and it is expected that the work will be completed during the summer vacation so that church work can go on next fall with increased vigor and activity.

Last night the pastor preached upon the question "Can a Man be Saved Outside of the Church?" and administered the ordinance of baptism to a large number of persons.

Pen Points

The silver lining isn't worth much to the man who dies under a cloud.

The spectacle of Bailey defending his own record in the Senate is about as convincing as the vulgar trick of assuming to clinch an argument with a bet.

Miss Grace Grant, 19, of Chicago, wants to be a National League umpire. No, fair girl! you may be a fine judge of batted eyes but you're heap shy on slide.

"Three more Missouri county conventions have indorsed Bryan for President in 1908," says a dispatch. Yet two times those Missourians have been shown!

In San Francisco it has satisfied the worst of the totem-bearers to be arsonists, looters and spillers of blood. In New York they have assumed also the avocation of ghouls.

Self-indulgence in immorality never made a little man great nor a great man greater. There is no reason why the social law should reverse itself in favor of Maxim Gorky.

These eleventh-hour recessions of Europe's sick man have gotten stale. Deathbed repentance is about the shabbiest subterfuge in the gamut of human hypocrisy, anyhow.

If Missouri goes for Bill Bryan in 1908, we may expect to see some other Datto chief running for Governor in 1912 when Folk has got his Democratic hooks onto the Big Thing.

That yarn from San Francisco about the running down of a big whale by the barkentine Wilder suggests that there was probably a good-sized bumper on board as well as overboard.

Gorky's legal wife says she is "very indignant" because America snubbed her husband for coming to us with a mistress on his arm. Then we are proud to have incurred her displeasure.

"But he (Dowie) announced that he would conduct Sunday services even if he had to be carried into the tabernacle on a stretcher." Well, that's better than being carried into hell on a spit.

While this continuous performance of legal holidays, created by the Governor, is intended primarily to protect the banks, it doubtless also meets with the approval of some of those who have notes falling due.

"But," said Senator Bailey, referring to Mr. Roosevelt, "let us have no more talk about this iron man. He is clay, and very common clay at that." No scire. Bailey is mud, and very low-down mud at that.

Boston scientists are writhing in contortions of joy over the reported excavation of another mummy muss near Cairo. It beats the dickens how much live energy some folk will expend in digging up dead ones.

Dr. Cyrus Townsend Brady, Cleveland pastor, proposes to have "a baseball service" in Trinity Church one Sunday evening in June. Well, short stops and home runs are sometimes within church lines, to say nothing of masks and plates.

That "amicable understanding" said to exist between Mr. and Mrs. Gorky goes Utah one better as an amendment to the moral code. In Mormonland the husband may rove where his passion listeth, but the wife is supposed to remain pure.

The Konich-Bagdad Railway, as financed by Germany and England, is soon to traverse the fair legended Garden of Eden. Now let that iniquitous old apple tree get busy and prepare to deliver the goods, ere the general freight agent takes train for Mesopotamia.

The (presumed) suicide of H. H. Rogers's confidential agent "covered" temporarily his unsuspected shortage in the stock market. Aye! covered it right well—with oblivion for himself and obloquy for those whom he left behind to endure what he had not the courage to face.

Instead of extricating him from an unenviable position, Mme. Gorky's letter merely extends the area of her husband's degradation to include herself. Free love—at best a pretty synonym for licentious leaning—may be a popular institution in chaotic Russia, but here in the United States we cherish and honor a clean fireside.

The debate in the Douma on the resolution favoring the abolition of the death penalty in Russia, says the Associated Press, included "a dozen or more two-minute addresses by peasant and labor representatives, whose eloquence will compare favorably with that of any parliamentary body in the world." It was not they, but their gaping wounds that spoke.

The determination of the new Russian Parliament to request of the throne, among other things, "the immediate abandonment of the death penalty for all offenses, criminal as well as political," is chiefly noteworthy as measuring the full swing of the pendulum. Torture and homicide have been the mailed fists of the Romanoff throughout too many bloody generations for this bold request to be received as other than a grim, gray jest.

THE BOND ELECTION—A WORD OF CAUTION.

Six separate propositions for issuing bonds to the amount of $1,150,000 are to be submitted to the voters of Los Angeles at a special election next Thursday.

Although The Times has supported every well-considered movement of this kind for the expansion of the city and the benefit of our citizens, it sees in the present juncture of affairs the need of extreme caution in voting bond issues for any purpose except the need be imperative. It is clear that circumstances do not warrant the bonding of the city for some of the objects included in next Thursday's list, and that certain of the propositions—most of them in fact—should be defeated.

The State law authorizes the bonding of the city to an amount not exceeding 15 per cent. of its valuation. As the present valuation of the city is in round numbers $150,000,000, the law would permit a total bonded debt of $22,500,000. The city has $6,000,000 bonds outstanding, leaving a legal margin of about $16,000,000 on which to draw for future issues. With the large loans necessary for the completion of the Owens River project to be made, and with other absolute necessities to be provided for, it is apparent that the city must be careful of its credit.

The supreme improvement—the increase of our water supply—is that on which all hearts are set and to which every energy and every resource should be devoted. The cost has been carefully considered and our citizens are practically a unit in resolving to meet it. For this transcendent purpose the city has voted to pledge its credit to the utmost and its enthusiasm in the cause is increasing, rather than abating. Its success must not be imperilled by loading the city with bonds issued for minor improvements and thus preventing the issuance of its debentures for a sufficient amount to complete the magnificent conduit from the Sierras, which is to round out the material felicity of Los Angeles county and make the foundations of our greatness as stable as the mountains from which the blessed waters shall flow.

Of course it is to be taken for granted that the city's valuation will increase year by year and thus the limit of our bonded indebtedness will be enlarged considerably by the time the last issue for the water project will be needed; but it will not do to bank recklessly on this prospect; we must not infringe too far on the city's present credit by adding to its liabilities any items that may be held in abeyance.

Let us look at the six propositions coming up in next Thursday's election, one by one, and carefully consider each in view of actual conditions confronting the city:

(1.) For bridges across the Los Angeles River and the Arroyo de Los Posos, $287,500. These include a bridge across the river at Buena Vista street, starting at Fremont Gate; a bridge across the river at the end of Main street; a bridge across the river at Seventh street, and a bridge across the arroyo at Macy street. The street railroad companies are pledged to bear their share of the expense of the river bridges, whose cost to the city, it is estimated, will be $267,500. The Macy-street bridge is a small affair. These improvements cannot well be postponed and the city can now have them on excellent terms. The needs of the citizens demand their construction, and the bonds for building them should be voted.

(2.) For main sewers and laterals connecting the outfall, $287,500. The health of the people demands the construction of these sewers, and they will be a good investment properly provided for in bonds to be paid by those receiving benefits from the sewers in the future as well as at present. This bond issue should be carried.

(3.) For storm drains, $225,000. This proposition should be defeated. The city now has a partly completed storm drain system and there is doubt as to its efficacy. We should give the present storm drains a further test before experimenting further.

(4.) For eight engine-houses and equipments, $200,000. This proposition should be defeated. Bonds should not be issued for the expansion of our fire department. Money should be appropriated from the current revenues for this purpose. Such has been the general policy of the city and it should not be changed. Greater economy in the expenses of the department would leave enough funds for all its needs.

(5.) For police station improvements and new sub-stations, $50,000. This proposition should be voted down for the reasons applying to the preceding. The amount named probably is excessive. At any rate the funds should come from current revenues for such improvements; they should not be saddled on the city's bonded debt.

(6.) For children's playgrounds, $100,000. The city cannot afford to go into debt for such a purpose at this time and this proposition should be defeated. It is one of the things that can wait. Let the imperative things have the right of way.

To sum up, it appears that the first two propositions on the list, those for bridges and sewers deserve the "yes" votes of taxpayers, while the others do not. Every voter should realize that he may be doing himself as well as his fellow-citizens an injury, no matter how small his own particular tax may be, if he helps saddle on the city at this time, when she must husband her credit resources, any bond issue that is not demanded by genuine necessity.

The Times will discuss other phases of the situation from day to day.

THE CHILD REFUGEES.

The State Board of Examiners calls attention to the fact that when "the era of free feeding" of San Francisco people shall end—and in the nature of things it must come to an end sooner or later—there will be many children who have lost one or both parents, and who will require outside aid for a more or less extended period, "until the strain of unexampled adversity can be bridged over and the family fortunes in some measure be retrieved." The orphanages of California are already well filled, there being in the forty-four orphanages of the State about one thousand children, all told. It is suggested by the board of examiners that the placing of these orphanage children in private homes "will make room for a thousand refugee children to be cared for until their surviving parents can get them again under their own roofs."

These are good, practical suggestions, and without much doubt they will be acted upon generally by California people whose homes are lonely for the lack of children's laughter. In all probability there are more homes where children are wanted than there are children needing homes. If the demand and the supply could properly be brought together, the number of homeless children might be reduced to a minimum. But the majority of families prefer infants for adoption rather than partly grown children, for the reason, principally, that the character of a child develops rapidly after the period of infantile helplessness is past, so that it is partly formed when adopted at any time after this period. It is an old question, not yet fully decided, whether heredity or environment has the greater influence in developing character. Many persons who are able and willing to adopt children, hesitate to take into their homes, and to give their own names to, children from orphan asylums, whose lineage cannot always be shown to be good. They fear that "blood will tell" when the child attains to the adult age, and it must be confessed that too often these fears have been realized.

The child problem raised by the San Francisco catastrophe is confessedly serious, but its difficulties are not insuperable. Patient, earnest effort on the part of the many kind and sympathetic persons who are working so unselfishly and so effectively for the accomplishment of the best results, will surely be successful in the end. Many of the homeless children will find good homes without the intervention of orphan asylums, and many others will strike out in the world to make their own way. The great disaster in the North has at least served one good purpose, for it has reminded all men of the universal kinship of the race. It has softened asperities, and has taught us in some measure to bear one another's burdens. It has given new meanings to the gospel of kindness. It has indeed taught us the lessons of "faith, hope and charity;" and also that "the greatest of these is charity."

OPPORTUNITIES BEING SEIZED.

From all over the country are coming innumerable intimations of the great interest excited in the minds of the people in regard to the new San Francisco. Besides the organizations formed by the great financiers of the East to furnish capital to the amount of $100,000,000, the wires are continually bringing reports of organizations being formed by builders and contractors in many parts of the country who have joined together to contribute sums of money amounting to as much as $10,000,000 in some cases to finance the work of rebuilding. Then there are innumerable reports of business men who see the opportunity of a century to get into a great city on bedrock terms on a perfect level with all competitors to establish different lines of business. The reports are of no end of people with capital ranging from $5000 up to $50,000 each who are pulling up stakes all over the country with the intention of getting in at the very beginning in San Francisco with their peculiar lines of business.

For six months to come a small army of unskilled labor will be busy merely removing the débris from the 4000 acres of the site of the city burned over by the fire. Another small army will be engaged in preparing sites for new buildings to replace the old ones. When it comes to skilled labor of all classes in the building trades, the number of men required to do the work of rebuilding the city will be numbered by tens of thousands. All these men, whether skilled laborers or unskilled, will be paid the highest wages ruling in America. The law of supply and demand, which is vastly more immovably fixed than those celebrated laws of the Medes and the Persians, will bring these high wages about for all those engaged in rebuilding San Francisco. Each line of the work to be done will make more work necessary in conjunction with it. To rebuild the business houses means these vast corps of the one great army of toilers. Their presence will call for houses in which to lodge them, and means of feeding and also of clothing them. Like all the other members of the human family, they will require their amusements. With the old firms and individuals opening up new commercial establishments, houses must be provided to lodge them all. This creates an active demand for domestic servants of all classes. From all over the world these armies of workers in different lines of endeavor will soon be drawn together to make the hills of the burned metropolis the busiest hive of human toilers on all the globe.

A year will do a great deal in making a great beginning in reconstructing the city. Three years will pass and only a great beginning in this work will have been made. In five years perhaps half the achievement will be accomplished, and it will be fully ten years probably before the new San Francisco stands again on the area just burned over by the fires, in every way greater, richer, more prosperous and resplendent than the one which was destroyed. If the people who undertake the rebuilding of this great metropolis of the West are as wise as they are thought to be, ten years from now will see by the Golden Gate a city more substantial, more beautiful, and more thoroughly modern in every respect than any other city on the globe.

NIGHT FLIGHT OF BIRDS.

Favorite Time for Migration Up the Mississippi Valley Where Are Many Varieties.

St. Louis Post Dispatch: This is the time when the birds pass in the night. They are passing this year, it is said, in greater numbers than for years. Bound for the waters and woods and the greening fields of the North, they are hurrying over St. Louis every night, myriad, many, wonderful in habit, unerring in instinct.

Northern Missouri and the States of the upper Mississippi valley have from 250 to 325 different birds; from 200 to 275 of these migrate north between the first of April and the middle of May. Just now this migration is at its height. The geese and ducks have gone in advance and, after many rebuffs, have driven winter headlong over the Canadian border. The song birds and all the other little feathered creatures which troop along after these bolder and stronger migrants are bringing up the main bird body and the chirruping rear. The robins and bluebirds led this songful procession.

The night is the bird's favorite time for traveling. At night hawks and other birds of prey are asleep, and the songsters may venture out of the sheltering copse and cruise the high seas of the sky without fear. If you will step outside tonight and listen you may hear them passing.

Their plaintive little cries are calls of encouragement to one another. If the winds are buffeting them about their shrill notes betray their distress, and you may be sure they will not long wear themselves out trying to oppose a contrary wind. Some place near they will drop into a clump of trees or a thicket, there to lie until the conditions shall be more favorable.

Most of the birds go in flocks. The blackbirds are famous for the innumerable host which they assemble in migration. It is not uncommon to see a flock of them which cannot number less than ten or even twenty thousand birds. Unlike most of the small birds, too, the blackbirds do a great deal of travelling during the day.

Some of the night flyers are great travelers. Even blackbirds, which do too much dipping and talking to get anywhere much, can make 200 miles in a night. The swift winged jacksnipe can do twice as much when he gets a stiff south breeze at his back. The ducks can do such wonderful feats of flying in a night that ornithologists are timid about publishing the results of their observations. It is apparently true that some of these flyers make as much as 1500 miles without stopping, and that ducks like the canvasback and the pintail cover five, six or eight hundred miles between dusk and dawn.

The larger and swifter birds usually fly higher than the little songsters. On foggy nights they are all pretty much at sea. Oftentimes a flock of birds, groping along, will get tangled in a tree top or clump of trees. Even ducks do this, and the squawking they set up on such occasions infests the night with the clamor of confusion and terror.

LOSS IN WINDOW GLASS.

One of the Effects of the San Francisco Earthquake and Fire on the Great Glass Industry.

Because of the destruction of a vast amount of business structures in San Francisco and also of the entire reserve supply of window glass in that city, the window glass market of the country, says the Pittsburgh Post, has assumed a new phase and probably one of the most unique in its history.

The demand for window glass has been on a higher level during the last winter and spring than at any time. Just when the manufacturers were preparing to close factories for the warm weather, the San Francisco disaster came and wiped out a large reserve stock of glass and opened a great market in the refitting of thousands of windows in the stricken city. How to meet that extra demand has now become a problem.

It was estimated this week that over $1,000,000 worth of glass had been destroyed in San Francisco alone. With what damage has been done in other cities along the Pacific Coast this total will be much larger.

The American Window Glass Company, it is expected, will operate its machine plants all summer to relieve the situation. The Belgian manufacturers, who always enter the American market when prices get above a certain figure, are said to be casting about for a chance to send forward a large amount of imported glass. This feature may keep down prices.

A meeting of the window glass jobbers and manufacturers is scheduled for next Tuesday in New York, to talk over the general situation and decide some plan that will work out satisfactorily for the market during the busy year that seems to be certain to follow.

The reconstruction work at San Francisco will not be ready for window glass before fall, but it will be necessary to get the stock in hand before then. Preference will likely be given orders from the Coast all summer.

At the Churches Yesterday.

A Life of Pleasure.

AT THE Temple Baptist Church, Rev. Robert J. Burdette preached in the morning on "A Life of Pleasure." "It need not necessarily be a frivolous and shallow life," he said. "Indeed, the natural ideal of life is 'a good time.' That is the child's idea of the highest life. It plays all the time. It seeks amusement. It must be entertained. Plays so hard that it cries and aches from the weariness of pleasure. That is the type of the childish mind in grown up people. People who have no intellectual resources, whose minds are childish and immature. People who must be amused and entertained every day. People who invent new amusements. Nothing wearies body and soul like pleasure. And no body is such a wearisome, rankling, tiresome, vexatious, unendurable bore and nuisance to a busy man, as the man who has nothing to do but to amuse himself, and who goes around "killing time." He ought to change places with time. For almost any kind of time has some value.

"'Well,' you say, 'can't we have any pleasure in life at all?' Surely. The church believes in pleasure. It teaches it. It encourages it. It works for it. The church has grown to see the folly of saying 'don't' and 'shan't' all the time, and has taken to saying 'ought' and 'must,' which are much stronger and nobler words. It isn't a new teaching. It is the oldest teaching in the church. We had just fallen away from it a little, that was all. Come into the church and enjoy a life of pleasure.

"Why, I am the heretic who wanted the 'Sunday-school Day,' which we celebrated a few weeks ago, postponed and made a part of La Fiesta. What would be more fitting? Henry Ward Beecher once said, 'Flowers are the sweetest things that God ever made, and forgot to put a soul into.' And when we hold our festival of the flowers, what feature of loveliness in it could compare with the most beautiful, loving and lovable creatures God ever made, his little children, with the purest and sweetest souls on earth animating their bodies? Many of the Shriners are members of our churches; their children are here in our own Sunday-school—brethren of ours are they—we have a part in the joy and beauty of La Fiesta, and one day of the festival should belong to our Sunday-school children. I tell you the church should be a part of all the innocent pleasures and all the highest joys in this world. Why, our own great apostle, Paul, the Leonine; Paul, the strenuous; Paul, the eloquent and logical; Paul, the tireless; advocated a life of pleasure. He writes a letter to an apostolic church—the one at Corinth, a church builded in the heart of a pleasure-loving community—'I take pleasure in infirmities, in necessities, in persecutions, in distresses, for Christ's sake; for when I am weak then am I strong.' 'I glory in my weakness!' And out of these 'pleasures,' working with God, he builded a character that has stood the storms and the testing criticism of the centuries. Want 'a good time?' Have you ever tried the joy of planning; the happiness of doing; the rapture of achieving; the blessedness of sacrifice? Do you want a genuine thrill of the highest pleasure? Go hungry that some needy one may be filled. Give your strength to the weak, your money to the poor, your hope to the despairing, your companionship to the friendless. Take pleasure in your 'necessities.'"

Golden Silence.

Rev. Frank DeWitt Talmage, D.D., yesterday at the First Presbyterian Church, preached a sermon on "Golden Silence," in which he administered a severe rebuke to faultfinders, gossips, slanderers and scandalmongers. His text was II Samuel 1:20: "Tell it not in Gath. Publish it not in the streets of Askelon." Dr. Talmage said in part:

"This law, that what we let our minds are to be, is irrevocable and all-powerful. It is so far-reaching in its results, that Jesus, in the Gospel of Matthew, declares that he will condemn us not only for our evil actions, but also for our evil thoughts. 'Ye have heard that it was said by them of old, thou shalt not commit adultery. But I say unto you, that whosoever looketh on a woman to lust after her, hath committed adultery with her already in his heart.' We are to be condemned, not only for what we say and do, but also for what we think.

"A man can indirectly govern his thoughts, as he can directly govern his actions. If a man allows his eye only to see pures pictures and to read good books; his ear to hear only what is good and true in reference to his fellow-men; if a man allows his tongue to repeat only that which is generous, and loving, and gentle, that man's mind and spirit will become true and good. If his mind becomes pure, then his thoughts and his desires will become pure, as well as his actions.

"The golden lips of gospel silence are often just as important for our spiritual development as the silver tongue of speech. The most eloquent passages of our spiritual development may often be found when we press the golden lips of gospel silence against our neighbor's faults when we are dumb, and say nothing, absolutely nothing.

"The golden lips of gospel silence should remain closed, because, as a rule, it is not necessary to emphasize scandals. Scandals are always loud-voiced. They publish themselves.

"A clean heart instinctively finds some good in every man's nature. A honey bee always scents the flower. It is the firefly of the night who loves to light his little lantern and to hunt for the creeping vermin in the quagmire and in the disease-breeding recesses of the miasmatic swamp.

"Blind Samson tumbled down the Dagon Temple upon the heads of the 3000 Philistines. But when Samson destroyed the enemies of his people, he also destroyed himself. So, when we attempt by harsh criticism to destroy others, we contribute to our own destruction.

"When we hear people harshly criticized, may we, in the name of Christ, say nothing, or, only if necessary speak up in their behalf as Christ would have us speak. May we learn this lesson, not by standing before ...e picture of an earthly hero, but by the tomb of a martyred Lord."

God's Great Message.

Rev. Joseph Smale preached yesterday before the congregational of the First New Testament Church at Burbank Hall on the theme of "God's Great Message to the Church." During the discourse he said:

"Truth is not a matter of speculation, the scriptures being to us the gift of God, and God having spoken to us in His Son, and the Holy Ghost being in the world as the Spirit of truth.

"Seven things of the truth which my Master bids me to hold up to you, and He says in connection with each one a purchase. The truth on the subject of (1) the oneness of believers; (2) the church of Jesus Christ; (3) the prayer of life; (4) a Christian's welfare at the hands of the world; (5) Christian experience; (6) the responsibility attaching to life and its endowments; (7) righteousness before God."

Speaking under the head of Christian unity, Mr. Smale referred to the various historical efforts to achieve it, all of which had proved a humiliating failure. As instances he cited the principles of uniformity for which Catholicism stands. When the hour struck which gave men the opportunity to break with it, they did but perpetuate in another form, the divisive policy of the church of Rome.

"Organized Protestantism presents to the world a diversity almost as pathetic as Rome's uniformity. While Protestants declared for soul freedom, and the liberty of the individual conscience in gathering around the Bible, they became split up into various camps with the result that instead of Protestantism being the hope of unity, it has but continued the impossibility of it.

After congratulating the denominations upon their present-day exchanges of fellowship which he thought ought to be limited to the evangelical, the speaker turned his attention to the subject of the federation of churches which he does not regard as a sign of approaching unity. He said: "If conditions in the church world were not so perversely abnormal, we might hope much from a federate movement of churches, but the facts strangle the hope of a real coming together by such a method. The five gravest difficulties are: The rise of unitarianism in the evangelical churches; the irrepressibleness of higher criticism; a deplorable moral laxity; a waning spirituality; a fading distinction between the church and the world.

"From a federation of churches where these are working as leaven, what can be expected? If men of unspiritual minds, and careless devotion to truth, and a ritualistic attachment to religion, federate, they can never draw the Lord's people together. Never can a oneness of the people of God be effected by forcing unions upon them with men who know nothing of heavenly citizenship."

Congregational Congress.

"The Pacific Coast Congregational Congress and What it is for" was the subject of Rev. William Horace Day at the First Congregational Church yesterday morning.

The speaker's text was taken from two verses in Chronicles which described a religious congress in the time of Hezekiah. The speaker said:

"Those who met in Hezekiah's religious congress were in Jerusalem two weeks. They ate together; they prayed together and counseled together; then they went home to smash the idols together, and Israel was a purer and better land because of the congress.

"What is the Pacific Coast Congregational Congress? It is an essential part of our denominational machinery. The local church is the unit. It brings a few churches together. The State or General Association unites the whole State. The National Council meeting once in three years calls the churches of the nation together; and the International Council, meeting once in ten years unites the Congregational world together.

"As the country grew there was found to be too great a gap between the General Association and the National Council, and the Congregational Congresses uniting a group of States together for the consideration of the religions peculiar to that section of the land was devised.

"The Baptists, who are "wet Congregationalists" have adopted the same means of increasing their denominational effectiveness. The Pacific Coast has duties before it which are peculiar to this section. There are 473 churches and 503 ministers in this territory, which is 1500 miles long and 500 miles wide.

"This coast has relations to the Orient differing from other parts of our nation. We live in the midst of unique religious conditions, and just now beyond the northern horizon is a scene of desolation and misfortune the magnitude of which we are only beginning to realize.

"What is the Pacific Coast Congregational Congress for? It is not to legislate. We will pass no laws binding on our churches. Each of the great problems will be considered on its merits and the results of the discussion will not be put into votes or resolutions. As far as they produce inspiration they will exert influence and no further.

"The Congress has two main purposes. To develop fellowship and to direct fellowship.

"The most important work of the Congress will be done by Prof. Bosworth of Oberlin, who devotes the first hour every morning—3 to 10—in a Bible lecture. The modern scholar who couples with this scholarship deep spiritual insight will bring his message.

"When fellowship has been developed a force has been created which needs direction. The second purpose of the Congress is to direct the power which fellowship controls. We are to center it upon the church and social problems. To this discussion Dr. Gladden of Columbus and Dr. Wm. Rader of San Francisco will bring their thought.

"Of special importance just now will be the discussion on charities and correction. Led by Mr. Gates of San Francisco and President McLean of Berkeley.

"The parallel question of evangelism will be the theme for next to the last day. Is revivalism a spent force? Those of us who shared in the blessing of the evangelistic campaign of our Church Federation last year will continue to feel that the work of the church is eternally two fold, the appeal to the single soul to be right with God and the never ceasing campaign for a social order more fit for the life of the kingdom of God.

"On Wednesday the 23rd, the sessions close with the consideration of two great Pacific Coast obligations. One to the stricken cities at home, and the other to the world over the Pacific to which we are so near."

UNDERSEA COLD STORAGE.

British Admiralty's Important Experiment at Portsmouth in Sinking Tons of Fuel.

Important experiments, says London Chronicle, are being carried out by the naval authorities at Portsmouth dockyard to ascertain to what extent the steaming properties of the Welan coal used in the British Navy are improved by storage in the sea. Eighteen months ago iron crates, each containing two tons of coal, were sunk in the big basin, and at the same time a similar quantity of coal was carefully stored in the open air at the coaling point and sheltered from the weather beneath tarpaulins. At intervals of six months two ton samples from each storage have been taken out and carefully burned, and the results of the experiments have shown conclusively that by submarine storage of coal its caloric value steadily increases, while by storage in the open air a decided decrease is shown.

At the naval coaling stations in the tropics this decrease in caloric value is very great, the sun's heat drawing all the light, volatile oils out of the coal. The Admiralty, having satisfied themselves of the physical and financial advantages of the storage of coal in the sea, have no directed that experiments be made to ascertain its practicability on a large scale. The difficulty is that the coal has to be dried before it is stored, otherwise the superficial layers become waterlogged, and in the case of a ship's bunker would be liable to spontaneous combustion. The process of drying so far as it is necessary, spreading the coal in the open air, is easy enough for experimental purposes, but not feasible for use on board ship, or to thousands of tons of coal.

MUSIC AND THE STAGE.

...musical comedy and burlesque ...pular these days, and a big ...ss is planning anent the summer ...ason.

About the first of June Manager ...ley, and his new lieutenant, Harry ...ver, will start stock burlesque at ...he Eastern Opera House, with Rice, Cady ...Smith and several other principals of ...the present ...company.

Directly opposite, a rival showhouse is ...preparing to spring a similar surprise. ...Both have been busy in the manager's office ...for the last few days.

Summer music is now in preparation, ...and the public organizations for beach, ...park or resort are getting into trim ...for the season.

Press reports come from Venice, ...Cal., that "Venice of America Band," ...an organization of forty Italians un-...der the direction of Manfredo Chiaf-...farelli, opened yesterday to enthused ...audiences. Chiaffarelli has learned the ...characteristic values of "popular" music, ...and interspersed his classics with tunes ...for the multitudes, much to the mul-...titudes' delight.

Lillian Deustell seems perpetually ...traveling between "hay and grass," in ...grand opera language. His attempted win-...ter run of the Long Beach engagement ...did not carry through, and his Venice ...Pier season was not accepted. Mean-...while he has given up his Italian or-...chestra in the Palace Café, and R. V. ...Hunt now sits in the leader's chair.

The Oliver Ditson Company has just ...published, in neat form, twenty of the ...songs of Stephen Foster. The plain-...tive melodies of this poetic composer, ...not forgotten by even the older peo-...ple, still have an original place in ...American music, and possess a mel-...lowed beauty that does not grow dull ...with passing years.

"The Student King," Reginald De ...Koven's new opera, is due to be pro-...duced by Henry W. Savage, within a ...few days.

The book is by Stanislaus Stange, and ...has to do with the election of a ...king, Francis, to the kingship for ...a day in the carnival of Prague. It so ...happens that the Princess of Tyrol, ...accompanied by her court, is on her ...way to meet Rudolph, the real King ...of Bohemia. But incognito she falls in ...love with the student king, who in real-...ity is the real heir to the throne, hav-...ing been stolen from the cradle by a ...usurping councillor. Many amusing ...complications follow, but finally the ...student king and his royal bride are ...seated coduringly upon the throne.

Mr. Savage promises an elaborate ...production, and the piece is certainly ...a novelty. Foremost among the come-...dians is Raymond Hitchcock. Other ...parts are Gustav von Seyffertitz—...a German actor, Lawrence Rhea, ...James C. Leary, Thelma Fair, Wil-...liam Weedon and Flavia Arcaro.

"Mme. Bernhardt is bankrupt," say ...the Parisians. The magnificent theater ...of Bernhardt is said to be chiefly ...responsible for the financial catas-...trophe which overcame this great act-...ress not many months ago. The mil-...lions of francs earned in the course of ...her long career have ever been dis-...pensed with a lavish hand, but it was ...finally impossible for her to pre-...vent some accumulation—until she ...built one of the older theaters in ...Paris, remodeled it entirely, spend-...ing a fortune upon its decorations ...and equipment. This has proven a poor invest-...ment for the seating capacity is so ...small that it is impossible to make ...the magnificent productions pay for ...themselves at all.

Just before Mme. Bernhardt had a ...success in Paris, and that, too, was a ...play involving her in very great ex-...pense. But it seems that the ...public taught her no lesson, and not ...content with the white elephant on ...hands in the French capital, is ...now in the throes of emotional enthusiasm over the ...establishment of her own theater in ...New York.

Mme. Bernhardt has made mil-...lions on the stage is not merely a fig-...ure of speech; it is absolutely true. ...Her theatrical career, began for-...ty years ago, although for some years ...she drew a small salary at the Com-...edie Francaise, she soon became a ...star member of that organization, ...and the years that passed in's her steadily-...increasing stardom.

During her first American tour the ...total receipts were $4600 for each ...performance. Her appearances in Eng-...land have been quite as remunerative ...as American tours, and all in all, ...she has earned a sum not inconsider-...able even among the colossal fortunes ...of today.

During the present tour the gross re-...ceipts of one week in Chicago exceed-...ed $35,000. Her New York engagement ...of two weeks represented over $75,000.

ASSESSOR'S LAST CALL.

Statements Must Be Filed This Week to Avoid an Arbitrary Assessment.

Assessor Ward is anxious to ...have the filing of all statements of ...personal values before the end of this ...week. Saturday is the last day on ...which such statements can be filed ...to avoid an "arbitrary assessment" ...of property, owners are urged to com-...ply with the request.

The demand of the Assessor is made ...necessary because of the volume of ...clerical and other work which is piling ...up on the clerks. The law says the ...Assessor must place an arbitrary as-...sessment against all property when ...owners fail to file statement.

There is a penalty of $1 attached to ...the delinquent poll tax until Satur-...day, when $2 will settle the ...tax, but afterward an extra dollar ...will be demanded.

The great increase in the population ...of Los Angeles has made the task of ...the clerks of the Assessor's office ...heavier. Several have been unable ...to cover the large districts assigned to ...them, and thus numbers of residents ...have been missed. The word of the ...Assessor is "Come early and avoid the ...rush."

GOOD FLOW IN SIGHT.

Pennsylvania Oil Company Makes Big Strike in Vicinity of Santa Maria.

(CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.)

SANTA BARBARA, May 13.—The ...success of the new Pennsylvania Oil ...Company, near Santa Maria, has been ...the talk, with the prospect for a ...flow of oil. The drill has been ...boring in oil for several weeks, and ...the company has been dropping deeper ...into the sands, with the expectancy ...of getting in a permanent well. A ...heavy flow of gas spouted the oil from ...the pipe on Friday, and gave the ...drillers warning that the time was ...approaching for the completion of the ...well.

The well is the old asphalt mines on ...the Orcutt tract. It is near the cen-...ter of the field occupied by the Pinal ...Pennsylvania companies, and is ...owned by big producers of the ...company. It is a good dis-...tance from the well has all of the good ...indications.

Many of Santa Barbara people ...are interested in the company, includ-...ing Barrington, E. P. Dunn, J. ...Sawyer and E. E. Shillingsburg, the latter now of San José. The company has had opportunity to close a good contract with the Standard for the delivery of the product, but it is not known that these arrangements have been completed as yet.

San Luis Obispo papers report that the Oak Park Oil Company has reached a good well a few miles from that city. It has been claimed that the Santa Maria oil field extended over the line into San Luis Obispo county, and there is considerable activity in the development of this new district. Several companies are operating near Oak Park, and in other localities in San Luis Obispo county.

DEDICATED TO A NOBLE WORK.

FORMAL OPENING OF SALVATION ARMY'S BUILDING.

Public Officials, Ministers and Laymen Join in the Service Marking the Beginning of an Important Movement by That Religious Body. A Social and Industrial Home.

Amid the sounding of many musical instruments, the tinkling of cymbals, and the deep notes of the bass drum, the Salvation Army Social and Industrial Home, at Nos. 121-129 San Pedro street was dedicated yesterday afternoon.

City officials, ministers and prominent laymen had a part in the formal programme, which was made impressive by Staff-Capt. Campbell, superintendent of social and industrial work of the Army in Los Angeles, who conducted the exercises.

Packed to suffocation was the auditorium of the handsome three-story building, but the crowd enjoyed the meeting, which was enlivened by the singing of salvation songs, and the music of the band. Adjutant and Mrs. Plumstead, in charge of Corps No. 1, sang a duet, and the blind singers, Mr. and Mrs. Baker, gave several selections.

Dr. W. A. Lamb made a hit by saying he was commissioned by Mayor McAleer to say anything he pleased and to promise anything for the good of the Salvation Army. "The Mayor must back me up in all I promise," said Dr. Lamb. Continuing the speaker said:

"I am glad the Salvation Army has discovered the importance of the social and industrial side of religion. You have a reading-room, conference rooms, music rooms and many other conveniences. You offer the comforts of a home to the homeless, and it is the fault of the man you come in contact with if that man is not helped. Everybody believes in the gospel of industry. There is no hope for a loafer or a bum, unless he goes to work.

"When the world asks if ours is a Christian nation, we point to San Francisco for an answer. The same spirit of sacrifice which has ruled since the awful disaster in the North has made the Salvation Army just what it is today."

Judge York, who followed Dr. Lamb, facetiously remarked that the preceding speech was the best he had ever heard the Mayor make. Vociferous applause greeted this statement.

"I am pleased to be able to have a part in this good cause," said Judge York. "I am to speak for the business men of Los Angeles, and I want to say that I believe there is no better class of men in the world than the merchants of this city. Many of them have assisted in rearing this temple of fraternity and they are always ready to help along a good cause.

"The gospel of Christ still lives, and in spite of the many creeds continues to flourish. I am glad the Salvation Army is not hindered by any creed. When the difference between men shall not be one of wealth, but of respectability and honor, then men will indeed be equal. You are standing for that which elevates mankind."

Rev. Stephen G. Northrop spoke in behalf of the churches of Los Angeles, and Maj. Percy Morton dedicated the building with prayer. After the doxology there was a public inspection of the building.

TWO GAMES FOR LOCALS.

Timely Swats Win Both Games from Fresno.

Brashear Pleases Fans With a Home Run.

Ross Earns Great Applause for Fine Catch.

Los Angeles, 4; Fresno, 1. First game.
Los Angeles, 5; Fresno, 2. Second game.

The Looloos wound up another week at home yesterday at the Chutes grounds by knocking the Fresno team a little deeper into the ground, and about 3000 fans braved a chilly day to see the sport. It was just about as much as any fan could ask for in one day, for there were two games for the price of one admission, many pretty plays, nice hitting and just enough errors and uncertainty to make things lively all afternoon. The locals took both games on account of timely hitting and the strength of their pitchers.

The features of the games were a beautiful running one-handed catch by Ross in the first game and the resulting double play, Atz's fielding in both games and the hitting of Brashear. In addition to these, a startling incident came in the sixth inning of the second game when the automobile in the diving-horse show in Chutes Park slipped a cog somewhere, ran down its inclined railway and crashed half way through the ball game fence in right field. This furnished a moment of excitement and contributed not a little to the doings of the day.

The locals cleaned out Pitcher Stelz in short order in the first game and he retired in the middle of the second half of the second inning after two runs had been made off him. Lemke, who took his place, had about the same kind of luck, for he could not keep us from making runs, and as Fresno could do little or nothing with Dolly Gray, it was a case of wait for the end.

In the second game, Pretzel Schmidt made his first appearance here this season, and the locals treated old Pretzel just about the same as they always did, which generally means a beating. Kittie Brashear tore swats off Pretzel as if he had been raised on his pitching, and the others worked him for hits, passes and sacrifices until we had runs to burn. Toser performed for Los Angeles against Pretzel and managed to keep the hits off him scattered so that they counted for little. It was in this game that Brashear found Ellis on first base and then slammed the ball over the left fence for a home run. This surprise seemed to take the steam out of Fresno, and about this time Toser commenced to tighten up on the swats, and the visitors never had much chance after that to do anything. Brashear hit like a fiend, getting one swat in three times up in the first game and a home run and two singles in four times at bat in the second game.

The great fielding feature was Ross's wonderful catch in left field in the first inning of the first game. Wolters opened the inning by hitting safely the first pitched ball to left field, but was forced out at second by Doyle. Then Casey and Eagan singled safely and there were three men on bases, with but one out. McLaughlin then came to bat and hit a short, swift liner over shortstop, and all the runners, thinking it was surely a safe hit, started to run around the bases. As soon as Ross saw the ball leave McLaughlin's bat, he sprinted for it, and, while running at top speed, stuck up his left hand in front of him and with a jump into the air, snared the ball. Doyle had reached the plate and Casey was at third base, but when they saw the catch they started to return to the bases. Without losing a second Ross, while in the air, threw the ball to Eager near the plate. Doyle raced back to third base, but Casey could not reach second and was thrown out by Eager to Atz, making one of the best double plays ever seen on the grounds.

The only runs Fresno got in this game was due to Doyle's double, Eagan's long fly to right and Eager's bad throw to second to catch Casey, who had walked. Doyle scored on the throw down. The locals made two runs in the second on two passes, Toman's double and Gray's single, Toman being forced in from third on Stelz's pass to Bernard. After Stelz had given two passes, hit Eager and had been touched for a single and a double, he went to the bench and Lemke took his place. In the third for us Ross walked, advanced on Dillon's sacrifice, went to third on Atz's swat to left and scored on Toman's sacrifice. The last run came on Brashear's pass and Ross's hard double over third base.

In the second game in the first inning, Wolters was passed, advanced on Doyle's hit to center and scored on sacrifices by Casey and Eagan. The second run resulted from singles by Delmas, Schmidt and Wolters.

For the locals, after Bernard struck out in the first inning, Ellis singled to right and scored on Brashear's homer over the fence. In the second Atz walked, went to second on Toman's sacrifice and scored on Eager's hit to center. In the third Bernard bunted to first safely, ran to second on a passed ball, stole third and scored on Brashear's drive to right field. The last run was due to Atz's pass, Toman's second sacrifice and Toser's hit to center.

STATE LEAGUE BALL.

STOCKTON BLANKS OAKLAND.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

STOCKTON, May 13.—Today's game was the best by far seen on the home grounds this season. Stockton won 3 to 0, but the result was in doubt until the last man was out in the ninth inning. Oakland had the bases full twice, once with no outs, but fast fielding prevented a run. Score:

Stockton 3; hits 6; errors 2.
Oakland 0; hits 7; errors 2.

Batteries—Ingalls and Conrad; Cox, Flynn and Robinson.
Umpire—Kennedy.

GAME AT SAN JOSE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN JOSE, May 13.—With Emerson in the box and a full line up, the locals experienced no difficulty in winning today's game from the Alameda State league team by the score of 6 to 0.

Batteries—San Jose, Emerson and Kent; Alameda, Nelson and Nelson.

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

GIANTS GET ANOTHER.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

CINCINNATI, May 13.—Superior hitting with men on bases won for New York today. Weimer was knocked out of the box in the third inning. Because of the immense crowd hits beyond the fielders counted for three bases. Score:

Cincinnati 4; hits 12; errors 2.
New York 8; hits 14; errors 2.

Batteries—Weimer, Czech and Schlei; McGinnity and Bresnahan.
Umpire—Marshal.

BROOKLYN'S FINE FINISH.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

CHICAGO, May 13.—Brooklyn defeated Chicago today, overcoming their apparent lead in the eighth inning on a triple, a single, Pfeister's wild throw and a fly. Stricklet pitched a strong game after the fifth, allowing but three scattering hits. Score:

Chicago 4; hits 10; errors 2.
Brooklyn 5; hits 8; errors 2.

Batteries — Pfeister and Moran; Stricklett and Berger.

TWELVE-INNING BATTLE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

ST. LOUIS, May 13.—Boston defeated St. Louis today after twelve innings. Drupot pitched the better game during the early part of the contest, but he weakened at the close and hits by Dolan and Pfeiffer and a base on balls to Howard let in the runs in the twelfth. Score:

St. Louis, 1; hits, 9; errors, 3.
Boston, 3; hits, 10; errors, 4.

Batteries—Drupot and Slattery; Lindeman and Needham.

SEALS BEAT PORTLAND.

WIN IN NINTH INNING.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

PORTLAND, May 13.—In a neck-and-neck contest which aroused the spectators to the highest pitch of interest, San Francisco batted out a run in the ninth and took the game. Both pitchers were free in distributing hits. Score:

San Francisco, 5; hits, 9; errors, 1.
Portland, 4; hits, 9; errors, 4.

Batteries—Hitt and Wilson; Essick and McLean.
Umpire—Perrine.

TWELVE-INNING CONTEST.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SACRAMENTO, May 13.—The Presidio team defeated the Cordovas of Sacramento by a score of 2 to 0 today. For eleven innings neither side scored, but in the twelfth two hits and an error by Brown let in two runs for the soldiers. Brown struck out eleven; Rollander nine men, and Brown was touched for five and Rollander for four hits. Erwald caught for Presidio, Burke for Cordova.

ROCKENFIELD'S ERRORS FATAL.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SEATTLE, May 13.—Oakland won two games from Seattle today. The first went twelve innings, the final score being 4 to 2. This was a brilliant exhibition of pitching on the part of Jones and Graham and fine, all around fielding until the twelth, when Rockenfield dropped a pop fly and started the ball rolling. The second game was a comedy of errors so far as Seattle was concerned, with Rockenfield as the leading comedian, and was called at the end of the seventh inning on account of darkness. Score:

First game:
Seattle, 2; hits, 9; errors, 3.
Oakland, 4; hits, 7; errors, 0.
Batteries—Jones and Blankenship; Graham and Bliss.
Second game:
Seattle, 3; hits, 9; errors, 10.
Oakland, 8; hits, 5; errors, 0.
Batteries—Vickers, Belt and Hanson; Reidy and T. Hackett.
Umpire—Knell.

BASEBALL THIS WEEK.

FRESNO PLAYS LOS ANGELES.

The Fresno and Los Angeles teams are to play ball at the Chutes grounds this week as usual and the news will probably be known this afternoon whether the league meeting at Oakland will decide to continue the games longer. Manager Morley went to Oakland last night to attend the meeting at 11 o'clock this morning and it is not likely that the games this week will be called off, if the local team should decide to drop out of the league.

Morley stated yesterday that no proposition had been made to him by Jim Jeffries or any one in regard to taking over the Los Angeles team, but that he would give Jeffries the Los Angeles franchise and sell him the players at the valuation that might be placed on them by the National Association. Jeff has as yet evinced no great desire to finance a ball team, for knocking the heads off aspiring pugs is far different from paying out $1000 a week to hungry ball players and rapacious railroad companies.

Minor Ball.

The U.S.C. team beat Pomona club at the U.S.C. grounds last Saturday, by a score of 4 to 3, making the second defeat for Pomona by U.S.C.

At Watts yesterday afternoon the Stars of that burg beat the Los Angeles Newsboys' nine by a score of 4 to 0. The batteries were Davis and Beeshard for the winners and Cook and Meckles for the losers.

The Keystone Produce Company thrashed the Downey team yesterday at Downey, by a 1 to 0 score. The battery for the winners was Lyman and Le Brand; for the losers, Crandall and Cohn.

The Bailey & Schmidts team beat the Brent's at Seal Gardens yesterday near Long Beach, by a score of 5 to 3. The batteries were Hearst and Temple and Goddard and Bresine.

Gunning, Baron and Leonard have taken up the defi of Quinn, Mueggenberg and Todd, and will play on Morley's alleys Monday night.

Office employés from the Los Angeles Foundry Company enjoyed a merry evening's roll on Morley's alleys last week.

A bunch from the T. I. and T. Company office played on Morley's alleys last Tuesday night, and some good scores were rolled.

Gunning and Baron won four out of five games, and by 165 pins on totals, from Struby and Gregory, Thursday night on Morley's alleys. Gregory and Baron tied for high game with 224. Gunning had high average of 193 4-5.

TARGET PRACTICE.

Turners Hold Regular Monthly Shoot, but High Scores Impossible, Owing to Tricky Winds.

The shooting section of the Turners held its regular monthly medal shoot yesterday at Schuetzen Park, but the tricky winds made low scores the rule and very few average scores were made for this reason. Joe Singer won the champion medal with 204, but he was ten points ahead of his old rival, John Hauerwaas, and F. Yaeger wound up the string of scores with but 63. The scores were as follows:

Joe Singer 204, John Hauerwaas 194, William Frick 187, A. Waghiere 180, Henry Pfirrmann 169, Frank Huebsch 159, Chris Krempel 154, A. Maas 140, E. Englander 137, Frank Allender 113, S. Seeley 92, F. Fieber 86, F. Yaeger 63. The first four medals were won by Wagniere, Pfirrmann, Huebsch and Krempel, respectively.

John Hauerwaas and Krempel started a fifty-shot match, with Hauerwaas giving Krempel four points per shot, but Chris gave up after the thirtieth shot.

BILLIARD PLAY.

Carney and Kennedy Begin Tonight to Play String of Twelve Hundred Points at Balk Line.

Joe Carney and George Kennedy will start out tonight to play 300 points of a 1200-point match to decide the championship for this end of the Sate at 14.2 balk line, the place of meeting being Henry Berry's billiard rooms on South Spring street. Play will begin at 7:30 o'clock and 300 points will be played Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday nights. There will be no admission charged to the games and the public is invited.

GIRLS TO THE RESCUE.

Victim of Occidental Academy K.U.M. Initiation Excites Sympathy of Fair Sex.

Saturday night the K.U.M.'s of Occidental Academy initiated two new members. The victims were Garland Ross, the Occidental third baseman, and John Bovee, a popular member of the academy junior class. In the initiatory ceremony, all Highland Park, the arroyo and the neighboring hills were dovered.

The first stunt the victims were called upon to perform was to sing a song on the porch of a friend's house. Mr. Bovee, bound hand and foot and blindfolded, was placed at the door of a certain young lady's residence.

Just as he was entering upon the chorus, the young lady appeared at the door. She decided to rescue Bovee. Summoning help from the inside, she started to haul him in. Then a rush was made for the door, and a strenuous tussle ensued.

The hall was converted into a battleground for the "remains." The young ladies pulled on one end, the boys on the other. The shrieks of the "prize" were heartrending; but no one consented to let go.

At last the superior strength of the boys triumphed and he was pulled through the door.

One of the members found himself locked inside, and the young ladies decided to turn their attention to him. After a lively fight he reached the back door. With a mighty effort he jumped through the screen door head first, landing in a bed of carnations.

The rest of the stunts went off without a hitch. A supper was served toward midnight and the troubles of the new members were forgotten in the merriment around the board.

Men Only

As we have said before many times, we are of the opinion that our treatment marks the limit of medical possibilities in the cure of men's diseases. However, we are continually striving toward GREATER ACCOMPLISHMENTS, just as we have striven for the past seventeen years, though at no time will we accept a case for treatment and receive pay for services where we have the slightest doubt of our ability to effect a cure.

SAD NEWS FROM CHINA.

Miss Anna Stone, Who Was Greatly Beloved by Missionary Workers, Dies in Her Native Land.

Los Angeles people who attended the Methodist General Conference held here two years ago will have no difficulty in recalling the charming face and sweet voice of a beautiful young Chinese girl with the American name of Anna Stone, a protegée of Bishop and Mrs. Joyce.

Miss Stone sang repeatedly at the missionary gatherings held in the old Chamber of Commerce at Fourth and Broadway which was turned over by Mr. Mason for the use of the missionary exhibitors. News has just reached America of the death of this beautiful girl in Kjukiang, China, and causes mourning in this country wherever Anna Stone was well known.

MISS ANNA STONE.

Educated at Folts Institute in New York, she returned to her native land as a missionary to her people, but was forced, after a time, by reason of ill health and tubercular tendencies to return to America for rest and recuperation. She spent a year in Southern California, making her home at South Pasadena with Mrs. Z. L. Parmelee, the treasurer of the Pacific branch of the Methodist Women's Foreign Missionary Society. She was the guest, during the General Conference, of Chan Kiu Sing and family at their pretty home on Boyle Heights.

Miss Stone was the daughter of a Chinese minister of the gospel who lost his life through hardships endured during the Boxer troubles. She always retained her native costume, but spoke the English language as fluently as our own college associates.

She was educated by Bishop and Mrs. Joyce, who brought her to this country on their return from an episcopal tour of China, taking the attractive young Chinese girl into their own home and afterward giving her the advantage of a thorough college training. In speaking of her Bishop Joyce was wont to say "Anna Stone's presence in the home is a benediction."

While in Los Angeles Miss Stone was a frequent speaker and singer at missionary gatherings and was a general favorite among the missionary workers.

MANY CHINESE COMING.

Several Wealthy Companies Preparing to Establish Places of Business in Los Angeles.

Chinese refugees continue to arrive in Los Angeles Chinatown from Oakland and San Francisco. Yesterday afternoon a party of twenty-eight landed here, their transportation having been provided from the fund which the Chinese government has placed at San Francisco for relief work among its subjects.

More of these assisted Chinese will come today. Among the number arriving during the past week have been several Chinese women, in whom Mrs. E. M. Findlay, a local missionary worker among the Chinese has taken a personal interest. Several of them have been taken into her home, but the Chinese Chamber of Commerce held a meeting last night and made provision for them, and also considered the matter of raising further funds for the aid of the distressed Chinese in the north, and for the proper care of those who have come to this city with limited financial resources.

News of the prospective growth of local Chinatown continues to spread, as accounts filter through from San Francisco, showing that many important firms will settle here as soon as their insurance claims are adjusted.

Louie Shuck, manager of the Tsue Chong Wing Company, importers of Chinese merchandise, whose place of business was on Commercial street, San Francisco, made Los Angeles a flying visit the latter part of last week, to instruct his agents regarding his desires for a suitable business site here.

The Tsue Chong Wing Company had extensive shipments of Oriental goods en route at the time of the San Francisco disaster. This company has rented a large room in Oakland for temporary storage. It is said all these goods will be diverted to Los Angeles, and that the new store of Louie Shuck will rival that of the famous Sing Fat as a magnet for tourists and curiosity seekers.

Every night the past week Chinatown has worn almost the gayety of the Chinese New Year's period. Every household is filled with guests, and they overflow into the stores and shops. The eastern visitors have discovered the attractions of the reinforced Chinatown, and nightly there are to be seen crowds of Americans parading the narrow streets and trying to get peeps of the business and domestic life there.

MARCONI WIRELESS
An Established Operating Commercial Success
THE BEST INVESTMENT IN THE WORLD
Now Earning Money Every Day and Hour

We have been continually telling our customers and friends about Marconi securities. Every word we have said is coming true, and much more we did not venture to predict. The American people are now awake to the importance and usefulness of the MARCONI SYSTEM, and the demand for the securities has been unprecedented. It would take a book to tell you all about the greatest of inventions. We print the main facts in our prospectus, and a good deal of additional information, which are free to you on application. To those who are not familiar with the great progress that has been made by the Marconi Wireless Telegraph Company we publish below a few facts:

The Marconi System has the largest field to work of any enterprise in the world, being adapted to land and sea, to every clime in every part of the earth's surface.

The business is on an established commercial basis, now earning money every day and hour.

The arrangements with the Western Union and Postal Telegraph Companies give it the use of their 30,000 offices, covering the United States and Canada, so that a message can be sent from and received in every town and hamlet.

Its officers and directors include men of the highest business standing and capacity, including John W. Griggs, President of the Company and former Governor of New Jersey and ex-Attorney General of the United States, with a strong Board of Directors, and Thomas A. Edison, with other leading scientists, as Consulting Engineers.

The English Marconi Company, which was brought out previous to the American Marconi Wireless Telegraph Company, according to their [illegible]

Seven Per Cent Net Last Year

A remarkable showing for a young company. The American Marconi Company, which is younger, has the advantage of all the English Company's expenditures and is growing rapidly, and with its much larger territory its earnings should be much greater.

The Marconi system is now in daily operation between both sides of the Atlantic and transatlantic steamships and most war vessels at sea. These securities offer the greatest investment opportunity in the world, and will lay the Foundation of Your Fortune

Your chance for profit is in finding out that the investment is a good one before everybody else knows it. If Bell Telephone stock were offered now at the price it was sold to original investors it wouldn't last a minute. $100 invested in Bell Telephone stock in 25 years increased to over $30,000. The only difference between the Bell Telephone opportunity you missed and the MARCONI opportunity you need NOT MISS is in the name. The time to buy Marconi securities is now.

Bell opportunity is one opportunity worth regretting. Marconi Wireless Telegraph is just as good today.

The New York "Sun," Jan. 28, 1906, says: "One thousand messages, commercial and personal, have been sent from one ship to others and to phone stations on one trip in the busy season. This means an expenditure by the passengers for Marconi messages of more than $9000. On a recent trip to New York from Hamburg the Amerika sent 700 dispatches to ship and shore."

Now is the time to buy Marconi Securities. Tomorrow may be too late. A big demand and an advance in price are at hand. Invest Before the Next Grand Rise in These Securities and Reap the Benefit.

AT THE CITY'S GATES.

EAST LOS ANGELES.

AT A special meeting of the East Los Angeles Improvement Association, held in Campbell's Hall Thursday evening, several important improvements for this part of the city were advocated. The interest of the meeting culminated in the determination to hold a bond election for bridges and other improvements. The association placed itself on record as being unanimously in favor of the issue of the bonds. It was declared by several speakers that the question of the bonds is one of vital interest to East Los Angeles. The building of the proposed Buena Vista-street viaduct will give a roadway through from North Broadway, via Downey avenue and Huntington boulevard to Pasadena, which will be one of the finest thoroughfares leading out of the city.

There are 18,000 people in East Los Angeles, it is said, who are intensely interested in the project, and it is said to be the greatest need of this part of Los Angeles. Steps will be taken to acquaint every voter in this district with the several phases of the question and a letter of appeal to the voters was drafted by the executive committee of the improvement association.

Should the bridge be built, it is said, several important industries, now waiting for a decision on the matter, will be erected on the East Side.

Complaint has been made of the closing of a street running into Avenue 18. A committee of citizens will take the necessary steps for the opening of the thoroughfare, which is said to be closed illegally. The accusation is made that a private corporation has seized upon the public street to be used for purposes of private gain. The street has been fenced in spite of vigorous protests from property owners in the vicinity.

Rev. W. M. Sterling was unable to preach yesterday morning because of illness, and the pulpit of the Methodist Church was occupied by Rev. W. F. Irvine.

The headquarters of the Chamber of Commerce Relief Committee of East Los Angeles, which were maintained in the Baird Block at the corner of Downey avenue and Johnson street, have been closed. Rev. Irvine, a retired minister of the Baptist Church, was in charge. Four large van loads of clothing were sent to the Chamber of Commerce headquarters in the Baker Block during the active work of the East Side committee, and 170 loaves of bread, as well as quantities of other provisions, were collected. Mrs. Owen McAleer, and a committee of other ladies, worked for a day sorting the clothes, the greater part of which has been used to supply the needs of the refugees in Los Angeles. Every church on the East Side sent large donations of food and clothing to the committee, and a great work has been done.

BROOKLYN HEIGHTS.

The question of the laying of sewers in Brooklyn Heights will be referred to a special committee of the Ninth Ward Improvement Association, who will take the matter up with the City Engineer without delay. The desire is to ascertain whether the project of sewers for the heights is outlined on the maps that show the proposed route of the sewers to be built. Residents of this section propose to see to it that the bonds to be voted shall include an appropriation for the much-needed sewers for this district.

Mrs. Lura Beal has returned to Brooklyn Heights after a sojourn of several months with her sons in Oakland and San Francisco. She is a guest of Mrs. William Lewis, No. [illegible] North Chicago street.

The members of the Church of the Ascension have been having their new church location, at the southeast corner of Brooklyn avenue and St. Louis street, graded and excavated for the basement for their new building.

Mrs. Alice Bayles and daughter have returned to Garrison, Kan., after a visit of several weeks with relatives on Brooklyn Heights.

BOYLE HEIGHTS.

The Ninth Ward Improvement Association has taken in hand the question of the paving of East First street. The association proposes to see that the matter has all the publicity possible, and merchants and property holders, interested in the paving of the thoroughfare, have been asked to "boost" the project. At the next meeting, the association will discuss ways and means for securing the improvement of the main artery of this section.

The excavation on East Fifth street, between Ezra and Concord streets, which has long been a menace to pedestrians and others, and has greatly injured the surrounding property values, will be filled at once, and the expense of the work will be borne by residents who will profit from the improvement.

Bailey street is to be straightened and the jog at the intersection of Bridge street will be removed when the work is completed. There is an effort to secure the straighteneng and widening of several crooked streets on Boyle Heights.

Residents of the section south and west of Boyle Heights will circulate a petition asking for two mail deliveries each day on Soto street between Fourth and Sixth streets, on Second and Third streets, east of Mott street, and on Euclid Heights. One delivery will be asked for the district east of Euclid avenue and south of Sixth street; also for the section south of Stephenson street and east of Val Verde street, and all territory east of Dobinson street and north of Brooklyn avenue.

THE NORTHWEST.

Miss Rosamond Dutton of No. 259 North Union avenue is spending a week at Riverside, the guest of old Detroit friends.

The brick walls of the church "Our Lady of Loretto" are rapidly rising at the corner of Court street and Union avenue. When completed it will be a handsome edifice.

The beautiful private rose garden of Assistant City Auditor E. E. Bostwick at No. 255 North Union avenue is now in full bloom. The large variety and splendid specimens of roses grown by this enthusiastic lover of flowers make a conservatory that the whole neighborhood is proud of.

THE SOUTHWEST.

For the benefit of St. John's Episcopal Church a concert was given on Friday evening at the Woman's Club House on Figueroa street. The social entertainment society of the church had charge, and the function was a success. Señor Ricardo Ruiz gave a selection on the violin, and was several times recalled. Others who had a part in the programme were Miss Annie H. Mottram, and Miss Marian Gordon Norman, who trained the chorus.

John Barnard, a prominent business man of Minneapolis, is visiting with his brother, T. Barnard, at No. 940 South Union avenue. He will visit San Francisco and other northern points before his return home.

Mrs. R. A. Brown of No. 1252 Magnolia avenue, gave a dinner Tuesday in honor of her daughter, Miss Inez Brown, who left that evening for Seattle, where she will marry Austin McNamara, formerly of San Francisco.

Members of the West Adams Street Church gave a reception to new members and strangers Thursday evening at the home of Dr. and Mrs. A. W. Adkinson, No. 2115 West Twentieth street. The house was prettily decorated and music was furnished by DaNubila's Orchestra.

The Westlake Presbyterian Church held their annual meeting Wednesday evening. Reports were given by the committees and the annual election of officers was held.

PICO HEIGHTS.

The Methodist Church is expanding, and an addition, to be used as a Sunday-school, is being built. The wing will be 36x40 feet and will be finished in the mission style. The rapid growth of the large Sunday-school has made necessary the building of the addition to the church. Rev. D. B. Loofbourrow, the pastor, is meeting with great success, and the membership of the church is steadily increasing.

Members of the Pico Heights Civic League held an interesting meeting on Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. L. Kallin, No. 2534 Sepulveda street. Mrs. Harriet Taylor, president of the organization, gave an exhaustive report of the work done by the body. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Mrs. Charles Pierce, president; Mrs. H. L. Sturgis, vice-president; Mrs. S. T. Rhoades, second vice-president; Mrs. F. McFaul, secretary; Mrs. Fred Schrieber, treasurer. After the election the ladies were entertained with a pink tea, and plans for the coming months were discussed.

Edmund Sawyer, son of Dr. E. O. Sawyer, who has been seriously ill for the past five weeks, is convalescing.

A humane society is to be organized in Pico Heights in connection with the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

Burton Server, of San Francisco, who has been the guest of his sister, Mrs. C. D. Keller, of No. 1203 Normandie street, has returned to San Francisco.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Christ Church mission are preparing for a social to be given in the guild room of the church.

A pretty wedding took place in the Congregational parsonage Monday evening, when Miss Lucy Hagerty became the bride of W. R. Johnson, Rev. J. M. Schaefle performed the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Johnson will reside at No. 540 Berendo street.

Rev. D. B. Loofbourrow preached yesterday morning at the Methodist Church and in the evening the installations of the officers of the Epworth League took place. The officers were: Leigh Segar, president; Essie Smith, first vice-president; Grace Deming, second vice-president; Mattie Penrod, third vice-president; Louise Harvey, fourth vice-president; Clara Titus, secretary; Glen Copeland, treasurer; Mrs. Nippenberg, organist; Mr. Herendeen, chorister.

The choir of the Congregational Church has lately been reinforced by the addition of several new members.

Mark Hartman has returned to Pico Heights and will reside at Catalina and Pico streets.

Miss Sadie Burns of Sanborn, Iowa, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Glen Baker. She will make Los Angeles her home.

Mrs. Claude Smith and daughter, Grace, are in Santa Ana, the guests of Mrs. Smith's mother, Mrs. Lee.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Johnson, of No. 1233 Normandie street, left Thursday for Seattle. They will visit a few weeks with relatives there, when they will go on to Klondike to remain two years.

OAK HILL.

On Thursday evening the Oak Hill Park Improvement Association gave its annual banquet at the residence of Ralph Rogers. The charter members of the club are Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Rogers, Mr. and Mrs. T. Talbert, Mr. and Mrs. Clark Mahan, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Weill, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hopkins, Mr. and Mrs. Paul C. Thorne, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Barnes. After the banquet the evening was pleasantly spent discussing plans for beautifying the immediate neighborhood.

Mrs. J. B. Weill has returned from a two weeks' sojourn at Murietta Springs.

The Oak Hill Park Whist Club met Monday evening at the home of Mrs. H. C. Barnes. Duplicate whist was played and a close game resulted. Dainty refreshments were served. The house was decorated with May flowers. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Goodhue, Judge and Mrs. Cowles, Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Thorne, and Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Weill, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Brock, Mr. and Mrs. Clark Mahan, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Barnes.

Mrs. Paul C. Thorne is entertaining her aunt, Miss Nellie G. Allen, of San Francisco, for a few weeks.

On Monday afternoon members of the Charity Club and several friends were delightfully entertained by Mrs. T. Talbert, at her cosy home. The event being the annual "Baby Day." Music was rendered by Mrs. Sadie Howard of San Francisco, and several lullabies were sung by Mrs. Nexx and her daughter, Barbara. Mrs. Frank L. Wheat of Garvanza read a paper giving as her subject the education of the young. A number of little tots enjoyed the good time.

The residents of Oak Hill Park will be sorry to lose Judge and Mrs. Cowles who are leaving with their daughter, Mrs. J. H. Goodhue, who has recently bought a home on Adams Heights.

Sunday Mrs. H. C. Barnes gave a farewell dinner in honor of her sister, Mrs. Adele Hunter, who leaves in a few days for a six months' trip through Europe. Covers were laid for fourteen.

VERNON.

The San Francisco earthquake has not only delayed the business of Vernon, but has also retarded the work of improving the streets, the laying of sewers and the paving of Central avenue. Everybody has forgotten these important items in the more important work for the relief of the stricken in the North. Much clothing and food is still being contributed by citizens of Vernon and the good work still goes on.

The Vernon Improvement Association, at a meeting held in Buck's Hall on Thursday evening, accepted the resignation of its secretary, Isaac S. Smith. There has been no more faithful servant of the society than Mr. Smith during his long term of office, and the splendid testimonial of thanks tendered him by the association is an evidence of the regard felt for his work. John Bales, of the local postoffice department, was chosen to fill the place. The Improvement Association is planning to give a public entertainment soon. The following committee has the work in charge: Mrs. Dora Lord, Mrs. W. C. Bowman, C. Smyser, A. W. Yarnell.

The following sales are reported by F. L. and J. H. Steele: John Ashton sells to Mrs. Dolly Masoner, a lot on Hooper avenue near Central avenue, which will be improved with a home. C. H. VETERAN ENCAMPMENT.

Preparations for the July Convention Are Now Being Made by the Committee.

Charles W. Davison, the department commander of the United Spanish War Veterans, has sent a communication to the executive committee of Roosevelt Camp, in charge of the arrangements for the reception and entertainment of the officials, delegates and visitors to the convention July 2 and 3, in which he says there has been no change in the date or place of meeting of the encampment.

The local camp is making strenuous efforts to have the forthcoming convention and reunion the most successful the order has ever held. Delegates will be present from Arizona, Nevada, and all cities in this State.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the encampment will convene here on the same date as the department.

In all of the efforts of the young local veterans for the success of this encampment they have been ably seconded with financial assistance and other material aid by former army and navy officers and other patriotic citizens. The request for this aid became imperative owing to the youth of Roosevelt Camp and the financial obligations it had to meet in defraying certain necessary expenses.

Brig.-Gen. Robert A. Wankowski is treasurer of the executive committee.

Some of the features decided upon include a reception by prominent veteran army, navy and military officers, a banquet at a popular cafe, a grand military ball at the armory and some one of the popular day trips from the city with a great feast or barbecue as a finale.

In all probability the sessions of the encampment and auxiliary will be held in the armory, which will be handsomely decorated for the occasion.

DEVOTES HIS LIFE TO BOYS.

MAJ. PEIXOTTO SEEKS AID FOR HIS FAMOUS CLUB.

Will Appeal to Eastern Millionaires for Financial Assistance for the Columbia Park Boys' Club Whose Quarters Were Destroyed by the San Francisco Fire.

During the past week Maj. Sidney S. Peixotto, founder of the celebrated Columbia Park Boys' Club of San Francisco has been a guest in Los Angeles. In the San Francisco disaster the boys' clubhouse was destroyed. Maj. Peixotto is here trying to interest Los Angeles people in raising a fund to establish a camp in the pine woods near Monterey, where the 240 boys, so suddenly thrown out of a home can be gathered together till their clubhouse can be rebuilt.

More than $100 was subscribed and any who wishes to add to the fund can do so through Mrs. Willoughby Rodman, who is interested in the plan of helping the boys. Maj. Peixotto leaves today for the East, where he will make an effort to interest such capitalists as Andrew Carnegie and John Rockefeller in providing an endowment fund to establish a training school where teachers may be fitted to go out and found similar clubs in the cities and towns throughout the United States.

Maj. Peixotto had been engaged in this work for fifteen years when the first Boys' Club was established in San Francisco, the movement beginning with a company of clever literary folk, artists and architects who determined to create a club which would meet the needs of boys who spent most of their time in the streets. Maj. Peixotto was one of this original company of founders and threw his whole heart and soul into the work, with the result that he established what is conceded to be one of the best all-round boys' clubs in the country. From it have come boys, born in surroundings that make their lives hopeless, who have gone through the State University and attained distinction in the beginning of a career.

The clubhouse in San Francisco represented the work of years, and was fitted up with a fine library, a music room, a gymnasium, an armory, an art studio, and three manual training rooms supplied with tools, a complete printing office, where for ten years such splendid press work had been turned out as to make the club famous in this particular. All this has been destroyed.

Last summer Maj. Peixotto took forty of the boys on a vacation tramp covering a distance of 400 miles, through the vineyards and valleys of California. They were gone fifty-one days, and along the route the boys gave over thirty evening concerts and performances, and played a dozen baseball games at different points, making enough to cover the expenses of the trip. Over seventy boys who were not physically up to the walking party spent a month in a camp near Monterey, where they lived as citizens of a miniature republic, which they named the "State of Columbia," governed by a president, who had his cabinet, senate and house of representatives.

It is in this same location that Maj. Peixotto wishes to establish a temporary camp to hold the boys together till their clubhouse can be rebuilt in San Francisco.

Southern California Fiesta.

Unusual efforts are being made by a great number of citizens to make the forthcoming Fiesta eclipse all preceding similar events, in gorgeousness and splendor. Magnificent floats are already completed and are the most beautiful ever constructed for such a fete. Entries for the floral parade are going to be unusually numerous and promise to be exceedingly beautiful.

The Times wishes to do its part in letting the world know we can do big things here and do them right, and no expense will be spared in printing The Times Special Fiesta Number, to make it a handsome paper, and a credit to Southern California.

It is the best evidence you can send your friends that Los Angeles and Southern California were unharmed by the recent terrible disaster to the northern part of the State. Price 15c, postage prepaid, to any address in the United States, Canada or Mexico, or the paper for the four days of the Fiesta, including this splendid issue will be sent to any address, postage prepaid, for 20c.

Send in your orders early, to facilitate a prompt delivery. The price of the Fiesta Number, not including postage, will be 10 cents per single copy, or 13 copies for $1.00.

Piano for Prominent Musician.

MR. FRANK B. LONG.

Dear Sir,—I take great pleasure in stating that my Frank B. Long piano is unquestionably all that you have claimed for it, and more. During the time I have had it, now over two years, it has gained (if that were possible) in power and sweetness. I am better pleased with it than I was when I first heard it. The tone, I believe, is unsurpassed.

THE CITY IN BRIEF

NEWS AND BUSINESS.

Neat Sum for Artists.

At a recent sale in New York of paintings contributed by artists of that city for the benefit of San Francisco artists, who had suffered by the disaster, a total of $12,227.50 was realized. The sale was conducted at the rooms of the American Art Association. The California Society of New York paid the expenses of the sale, $150.

Patrolman Struck by Car.

Patrolman A. R. Ross was struck by University car No. 139 near Adams street and Vermont avenue last evening and dragged several feet before the car could be brought to a standstill. Ross was riding on Vermont avenue on a bicycle, between the car tracks. He stated that he did not hear the approaching car until it was directly upon him, and too late to avoid a collision. The injured man was taken to the Receiving Hospital where it was found that his injuries consisted of severe body bruises and a sprained back. Ross lives at No. 2906 South Main street.

Dies Drunk and Unknown.

An unidentified man, arrested for drunkenness early yesterday morning, died of alcoholism in the Receiving Hospital just before 6 o'clock, four hours after he was taken to the Central Police Station. He was unconscious when taken to the hospital and had but 55 cents in his pockets. There was nothing on him by which the man could be identified and Coroner Trout is now working on the case. The dead man was about 35 years of age and his clothes are of good material and apparently of English make. The body was removed to Bresee Bros.' morgue.

Injured in Runaway.

Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Taylor of No. 492 West Forty-third street were thrown from their buggy and painfully injured in a runaway accident on East Main street yesterday afternoon. Mr. Taylor bought a spirited horse Saturday. With his wife, he went out yesterday for a drive to try the animal. When they had reached a point opposite the East Side Brewery one of the reins broke and the horse became frightened and ran away. Both the occupants of the carriage were thrown out. Mr. Taylor sustained a badly sprained leg and numerous bruises. Mrs. Taylor suffered a severe shaking up and painful bruises. They were treated at the Receiving Hospital and then removed to their home.

BREVITIES.

Carpenters will be finished on Monday, then the decorators will begin, and by June 1 our store will have been transformed into a purely optical establishment. We are determined to close out our entire lot of jewelry, diamonds and watches by that time, and are quoting prices below cost. Better buy for future needs. Joh. Von Breton, 350 So. Broadway.

TWO ATTEMPTS TO BURN HOUSE.

HUMAN LIVES ENDANGERED BY AN UNKNOWN INCENDIARY.

Fires Started Twice Early Sunday Morning in Rooming-house on East Third Street Despite Fact That Police Were Watching Place—Woman Narrowly Escapes Suffocation.

Fire of incendiary origin caused a loss of $250 to a lodging-house at No. 455 East Third street Sunday morning and nearly cost the life of Miss Grace Emmett, sister of Miss Katy Emmett, proprietress of the place.

Fire was first discovered in the house about 1130 o'clock Saturday evening, but was promptly extinguished with a slight loss. The fire had begn started beneath a rear stairway on the second floor and directly below the room occupied by Miss Emmett.

Before the young woman became fully awakened her room was filled with smoke, and she made her way to a place of safety with the greatest difficulty.

The first blaze was of such apparent incendiary origin that the police were notified and Patrolman George Horne kept close watch on the premises during the balance of the night.

The officer passed the building at 2 o'clock and noticed nothing unusual, but returning a few moments later found the rear of the building in flames. The second fire had been started near that originally set by the incendiaries, but had obtained a much greater start before discovered. None of the occupants of the house were injured in the second fire, but were forced to flee into the street garbed only in their night clothing.

TIPSY YOUTHS UPSET AUTO.

Wild Ride With Their Three Women Companions.

Heaped in Wreck While Turning Sharp Corner.

Injured Seek a Doctor as the Driver Grabs Number.

Amid a confusion of flying dirt, whirring wheels, screams of women and shouts of alarm a big touring car carrying three young alleged "sports" and their women companions turned over at the corner of Washington street and La Salle avenue Saturday night. The occupants of the machine were hurled out and lay stunned and bleeding in the road.

Their escape from serious injury and even death was almost miraculous, as they all seemed pretty drunk. The fact that the big car rolled three-quarters of the way over and stopped, resting on its left side accounts for their escape. Had they been pinned under the machine, as they would have been had the car turned over, it is probable the entire party would now be in the hospital.

One of the gilded youths and the girl with him were scarcely scratched, and realizing the position they were in did not stay to help their injured companions, but first tore the number off the rear of the machine so that it could not be identified by the police and then ran away, disappearing in the darkness. The four remaining passengers, two young men and two young women, were assisted to the home of Dr. James H. Shults, No. 2100 La Salle avenue, where their wounds were dressed and bandaged.

It was feared at first that one of the women and one man had sustained serious internal injuries, but it developed that the amount of alcohol imbibed was responsible for the symptoms which indicated the internal trouble. All of the quartette sustained numerous painful lacerations and bruises and were so stunned that they could give no reasonable account of the way the accident occurred.

REFUSE TO GIVE NAMES.

Dr. Shults endeavored to ascertain the names of the four persons he treated, but in every case he was told that it was none of his business. He would like to locate the men of the party now, however, as it does not pay to play the Good Samaritan and not even be thanked in return.

When the big auto tipped over the entire neighborhood was aroused and the men who went to the rescue of the motorists righted the machine and a test proved that the car could still be run, even though the fine body had been ruined and all the fancy work smashed, and after Dr. Shults had spent an hour and a half dressing wounds the "sports" limped to their machine which was as battered as they were.

The wrecked party evidently was composed of young men and women who could not afford to have their identity become known under the circumstances. Dr. Shults was returning home from an entertainment at the Angelus Hospital on East Washington street with his family in his son's automobile. When he was passing the corner of Washington and Main streets he noticed a party of six come out of the beer garden next to the corner and get into a big automobile which stood at the curb.

The sextette were hilarious and soon had the big machine speeding west on Washington street. All the way out Washington street they followed the Shults car. Pedestrians who happened to be on the street at the time were of the opinion that one of the young women was seated in the lap of the man acting as chauffeur and was aiding in the steering of the machine.

When the junction of La Salle avenue and Washington street was neared the Shults car was slowed up and the machine carrying the gay sextette moved up alongside. When Dr. Shults turned off the hilarious outfit attempted to follow him for some unknown reason but made no effort to slacken their speed and their big machine tipped over with a terrific crash, hurling its occupants in all directions.

REMOVED CAR NUMBER.

It is thought the young sport and the girl who was sitting on his lap in the front seat escaped uninjured and were the ones who tore the number off the car and then disappeared. The car was thrown over with such force that the forward part seemed to remain off the ground until the machine landed on its left side with a crash. The steering-wheel and gear were not injured, and only the tonneau, which was occupied by the remaining four passengers, was wrecked.

Who is the owner of this machine and who were its occupants at the time? Those who saw the accident and the party afterward say that if the truth were known some of the "best" families in the city would be terribly shocked. It is believed the man who was driving the car and who ran away with the number and his affectionate girl friend is the owner of the machine, but he succeeded in coverings his tracks well.

By the time Dr. Shults had dressed the wounds of the injured and the car had been righted quite a crowd had assembled from around the neighborhood, and when the party was helped into the machine, the girls had sobered up some and covered their faces for fear of being recognized, and the two men flew into a rage when Dr. Shults inquired what their names were.

While Dr. Shults is probably the most interested person, the police also are anxious to know who the wild speeders were, and yesterday investigated the case as far as they could go. Further investigation will be made today in an effort to get a line on the actions of some of the gilded youths of the city whose sprees may get them into more serious trouble.

GOSPEL TEMPERANCE.

Francis Murphy Addresses Large Audience Last Night at Blanchard Hall and Many Sign Pledge.

Francis Murphy was full of fire and vigor last night as he addressed a large audience in Blanchard Hall on "The New Power." The speaker was eloquent and discoursed on the advantage of a clean life and told of the satisfaction of living for others. His stirring appeal induced many to come forward at the close of the address to sign the pledge and don the blue ribbon.

Brief talks were also made by Frank F. Pratt, H. Cullery, W. R. Galbraith and Rev. P. H. Bodkin. Musical numbers were given by Miss Callender, Mrs. Wayland Trask and Charles Lamb.
